Record 219 Million Bu. State Corn Crop Seen

Wheat Estimate Boosted Again

... 40 BUSHEL CORN FORECAST

By The Associated Press

Nebraska may harvest 219,320,000 bushels of corn this year, about 3 million bushels less than last year, the Department of Agriculture predicted Thursday. This would be 40 bushels per acre.

The forecast was based on conditions July 1. It was the department's first guess as to the size of the current year's corn crop.

The government crop observers raised their estimate of Nebraska's wheat production—already a record figure if it materializes—to 103,920,000 bushels. That would be 30 bushels per acre. Last month's estimate was 101,297,000 bushels.

Warning Issued

However, Kenneth Logan, state-federal crop statistician, cautioned his fellow Nebraskans not to become "too excited" over the wheat prediction.

"You want to remember," he said, "that prediction was made as of July 1 on the premises of a 30-bushel per acre yield from 3,464,000 acres."

Logan said weather conditions which have prevailed over the state since July 1 undoubtedly would have some effect on the crop.

"A lot of farmers have been hurt," he said, adding that the recent hail and rain "won't help produce a record crop."

Widespread Losses

Logan said losses from hail and rain have been widespread and numerous.

However, he said there was no telling what the eventual crop might be as the weather could possibly clear up and "produce a bigger crop than anticipated."

He also said the predicted corn harvest was somewhat less than the 222,320,000 bush-

Rains Cut Top Crop Of Wheat

Aid Fields Of Corn, Alfalfa

The tropics-like rainy season Nebraska has experienced over the last several weeks may dim prospects for the predicted record wheat crop, but should act as a boon for corn and alfalfa fields, according to Kenneth Logan, state-federal crop statistician.

The violent storm early Thursday morning lashed corn and wheat fields in some areas, but the over-all effect is not expected to be too serious at this time. However, Richardson County was reported hard-hit and damage ran heavy.

In Lancaster County, hail demolished some fields near Panama, but other locales reported only a slight amount of loss. Allan Boettcher, associate county extension agent, said wheat harvesting may be delayed as much as a week by soggy fields.

Half Harvested

The harvest was well underway in Lancaster Monday and Tuesday, with half of the wheat harvested, according to Boettcher. He said the rain would probably lower the quality of the wheat quite a bit.

Logan said some wheat was likely flattened throughout the state and a heavy runoff was reported in some areas. He indicated the wet weather may cause some shattering when it is harvested.

Logan said the wheat picture on the first of June "was the most perfect" he had ever seen in the state, but since that time hail, rain and violent weather has taken a great toll of lush crops.

The western part of the state has suffered heavy hail damage, and the southeast wheat area has been doused with heavy rains and spotted hailstorms. Logan said the central area has escaped much of the wet weather and is preparing for a record harvest.

The Weather

NEBRASKA: Partly cloudy to cloudy with scattered showers, thunderstorms, little change in temperature through Friday night; highs 75-85.

KANSAS: Partly cloudy, scattered showers or thunderstorms mostly north Friday, Friday night; no important change in temperature; highs mid-80s north to mid-90s south.

Shot In Back

A 12-year-old girl, Maria Cebada, was shot in the back by a 13-year-old nephew, Eddie Cebada, was struck in the pelvis.

The girl's mother, Mrs. Sofia Cebada, was superficially wounded by a ricochet bullet.

Eyewitnesses said the slayer pulled up, picked up a rifle from the seat beside him fired 2 shots as Mrs. Cebada and the children stood at the curb talking with friends.

Goldfine Gets Probe Threat

Contempt Action Possible As Questions Snubbed

Washington (AP)—House investigators Thursday night held a threat of a contempt citation over Bernard Goldfine because of his reluctance to answer some questions about his business transactions.

To set the stage for such a possible citation the investigators had a signed subpoena ready to serve on Goldfine when he shows up for his fifth day of under-oath testimony Friday.

So far Goldfine has been testifying as a voluntary witness.

The subpoena move by the subcommittee under Rep. Orin Harris (D-Ark) was aimed at tightening the legal grip for a possible contempt of Congress citation against Goldfine, if Goldfine continues to refuse to answer certain committee questions.

Harris, himself, officially declined comment.

But a top committee source said Harris signed the subpoena after a closed-door committee meeting late Thursday afternoon.

Closed Door

Harris halted hearings and called the special House investigating committee into closed door session to discuss whether to move immediately against the millionaire gift-giving friend of President Eisenhower's assistant Sherman Adams.

Harris was said to have notified lawyers for Goldfine to be prepared for service of the subpoena Friday morning after the hearing reopens at 10 a.m. (EDT).

The subpoena was signed after some subcommittee legalists contended a contempt citation against Goldfine would not stand up if he were not under subpoena when he declined to answer the disputed questions.

Goldfine himself could not be reached, but a Goldfine attorney indicated the Boston industrialist would not try to dodge the subpoena.

'Solid Ground'

Lawyer Samuel Sears said "it doesn't make any difference" whether a subpoena is served. "We are on solid ground," he said, in refusing to answer the controversial committee questions.

The abrupt interruption in the hearings came only a short time after Goldfine had acknowledged more of the kind of generosity that have made his friendship with Adams a national issue—a payment of hotel bills totaling almost $1,200 for 3 Republican senators. These were Sen. Frederick G. Payne (Maine), Norris Cotton (NH), and Styles Bridges (NH).

All 3 senators acknowledged the payments, and all 3 said there was nothing wrong with it.

A recapitulation boosted by about $1,000 the amount Goldfine has acknowledged paying in hotel bills for Adams.

Goldfine talked freely about the hotel bills, but again clammed up on other subjects.

Farm Heavily Damaged By Tornado

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schriener look at a fence brace snapped by a twister at their farm 3 1/2 miles south of Bennet. Behind them are damaged farm buildings.

Funnel Slashes Farm

Damage Heavy Near Bennet

Lincoln Star Special

Bennet, Neb. — A tornado funnel which barely missed the Robert Schriener farmhouse 3 1/2 miles south of here, uprooted a 30-foot tree and demolished a barn and other buildings on the farm.

The twister, which approached the farm from the northwest heading southeast, uprooted the large elm only 15 feet from the house, missed the Schriener home, but destroyed the garage-corn crib and barn where 25 sheep were sheltered.

Schriener said that only 1 sheep was lost, but 7 others were buried in the barn debris, which he removed to free them.

The force of the tornado snapped a fence support 3" in diameter like a matchstick, and ruined the Schriener corn crop completely.

The farmhouse was untouched except for a broken attic window.

The storm was noticed by Schriener and his wife, who attempted to reach the basement and safety before it struck near midnight Wednesday.

A check by law officials showed no other damage except damage to a stock shed on the neighboring Ralph Mulder farm.

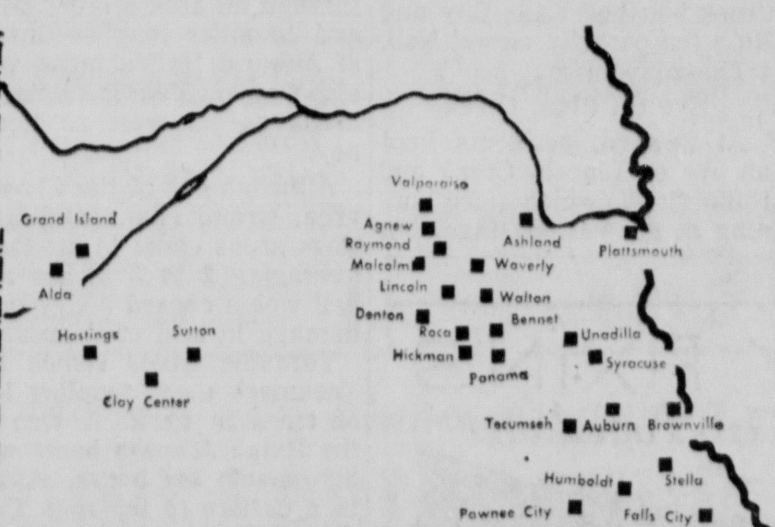

Twister Seen

An unverified report of a tornado 14 miles south of town was reported from Broken Bow Thursday night, but law officials in the area said there was only heavy rain and very light hail in the vicinity. The 45-minute shower brought over an inch of rain to the town. Nearby Stapleton also reported light rain and hail.

NEW STORMS PLAGUE STATE

Wind, Hail Added To Heavy Rain; Deluge Hits South Of Lincoln

Continued rain early Friday morning added new flooding threats to southeast Nebraska communities already endangered by swollen streams and creeks.

Lincoln again raced floods early Friday as a deluge of 1.90 inches of precipitation poured down near the Turnpike on U. S. 77, causing flash flooding which fast closed the highway.

As the water drained into Salt Creek, new inundation was expected in low-lying and already swamped Lincoln areas.

It also posed later flood threat to downstream Ashland where Salt Creek was running 2.6 feet over flood stage.

Flooding at Roca and Hickman was reported as a result of the deluge south of Lincoln.

The State Safety Patrol and Lancaster County sheriff's deputies patrolled the area.

The Patrol reported that the Burlington Railroad had advised it that water at both communities was higher early Friday than it had been after Thursday's downpour.

Burlington officials said the flooding near the 2 towns was apparently caused by the sudden downpour and not by Salt Creek overflow.

Downtown Lincoln precipitation count from early morning showers totaled .34 inch. The Air Base reported .03 inch from only light showers.

Violent windstorms, spotted heavy rainfall and some hail plagued the storm-struck state which Thursday was cleaning up debris from earlier deluges.

While residents of Ashland furiously sandbagged Salt Creek in an attempt to contain its overflowing waters from reaching residential areas, angry winds roared through York, Hastings and Grand Island.

The varied, but always violent, weather picture, saw Seward fighting the rushing waters of Lincoln Creek and Plum Creek while heavy hail as large as baseballs was reported east of North Platte.

More Predicted

Meanwhile, the Weather Bureau predicted more rain Friday and Friday night.

Communities throughout the southeast remained on alert as moisture-laden storms rushed eastward across the state in the early Friday hours.

Raging 75 m.p.h. winds swept through York, knocking out most of the city's power, felling trees like toothpicks and scattering debris across city streets.

Some 1.33 inches of rainfall splattered the city in the space of 30 minutes accompanied by spotted hail. Police rushed over the town to clear dangerous debris and felled wires.

Winds Lash

At Grand Island, rain, hail and 63 m.p.h. winds lashed the city. Heavy winds and rain at Hastings cut out part of its power and tore down trees.

Earlier the same storm struck near Broken Bow complete with an unconfirmed funnel sighting.

All across the state the weather picture took on one, almost invariable composition late Thursday night and into the morning: rain, wind and hail.

Hail and wind damage to crops, loss of several county road bridges and one highway bridge by high water and closure of highways were the main results of the early Thursday morning downpour which dumped 2 to 6 inches of rainfall over much of the southeast quarter of the state.

A steel bridge on Nebraska 62 over the Big Nemaha south of Elk Creek was lost when its abutments were undermined by the flooding river and the bridge dropped into the river.

Unsafe

Another bridge threatened was over Muddy Creek near Falls City. The bridge was declared unsafe, but remained standing as flood waters receded slightly Thursday night.

Antelope Creek, Belmont Areas Suffer Most

Bridges, Basements Hard Hit

Hardest hit by Thursday's flash-flooding in Lincoln was the Upper Antelope Creek area from 39th and South to 48th and Normal and the Belmont area.

The wind-whipped deluge of rain hit an official 3.91 inches in about 4 hours in the early morning, but several sections unofficially ranged upwards to 5 inches.

It was the worst since the July 1, 1957, deluge which produced Upper Antelope flooding of basements, undercut several bridges, and flooded park areas. The last previous flash floods were in 1950 and 1951.

Worst city spot appeared to be 40th Street a block south of South where a small bridge structure across Antelope Creek caused overflow and sent water swirling 2-feet deep down Normal Blvd.

Another bridge at 56th and Van Dorn, near the site of a federal-proposed dam, was seriously damaged and undercut by the force of the water.

Bridge Inadequate
Public Works Director D. L. Erickson said the 40th street bridge was inadequate, but improvement had been deferred because the proposed federal dam at 56th and Van Dorn "would alleviate" the Upper Antelope situation.

The Fire Department said 41 requests to pump out basements had been received, but that probably more would be received.

County Engineer L. A. Weaver reported no serious damage to any of the county's bridges, but that about 8 were closed because of washed-out or water-damaged approaches. Most were in the area north of the Lincoln Air Force Base, he said.

North Lincoln families, largely in the Belmont area, were evacuated as Lynn Creek threatened to overflow its banks.

50 At Center
Approximately 50 persons, including children, were housed in the Belmont Community Center where the Red Cross rushed cots, blankets and food. The evacuees returned home Thursday morning following breakfast. No homes were seriously flooded.

City Engineer Carl Fisher said "no area had any flooding where new storm sewer projects had been completed."

He said the newly-installed storm sewer in the Belmont area proved adequate, but the creek ran bankful from drainage on its upper limits where soil conservation dams are needed.

Six persons were evacuated by fire department boat from 2139 So. 39th and a fireman waded to a man stranded in his car on South between 38th and 39th and carried him to safety.

In addition to the Upper Antelope area, other basement flooding was reported in the 2400 block on So. 8th; 1800 block on So. 15th and 5200 block on No. 70th.

Out Of Danger
The city appeared out of danger unless more heavy rain materialized.

Both Salt Creek and Antelope Creek were reported subsiding late Thursday after running bank full during most of the day.

Salt Creek left its banks in several low areas, but flooding was reported as minor. After an early morning crest from the rain, another crest hit about mid-afternoon. It rose to 18 feet about 4:30 p.m. before subsiding again. Flood stage is 20 feet at the gauge-point.

Highway 77 near the State Penitentiary was flooded, but cars proceeded on their way slowly through about a foot of water.

Pen Flooded
The Penitentiary power plant was flooded out and power was diverted from the University of Nebraska plant to the prison.

Fourth floor employees at Statehouse were given an unexpected holiday as the power diversion left too little to run air conditioning units in the windowless 4th floor offices, converted from originally-constructed storage space.

Antelope Creek was bridge high at A and 29th, overflowed Capitol Parkway near the Lincoln High power plant, but was in its banks below J.

Tracks Reinforced
Rock Island Railroad crews had to relay track ballast on bridges at D and J streets.

The early morning storm knocked out about 500 phones, but the Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph Co. said all but 50 had been restored. The remainder would be in service by Friday morning.

Twenty-one long distance lines were also restored Thursday with only some circuits to Crete still out. They were expected to be returned to normal by Friday.

While Thursday's rain produced its trouble spots, other areas counted its blessings.

Northwest Lincoln residents, normally in a flood area, were complimentary about the new storm sewer and bridge at 33rd and Baldwin which "proved itself" in Thursday's test.

Thursday's rain boosted the month's total to 6.35 inches as compared with the normal of only 0.93 inches. Similarly, the year's total is running 19.38 inches or 5.75 inches more than normal.

FLOODING

sheriff's office reported 100% crop loss in corn from the hail and rain damage Thursday. The main damage area lay north and west of Falls City and as far north as Stella.

U.S. 73 and 75 3 miles north of Auburn will remain closed even though flood waters recede Friday because of a small approach bridge wash-out near the Little Nemaha.

Traffic from the south is being rerouted on Neb. 50 up to Neb. 2 to bypass the Auburn area. Repairs cannot be made until the water, which was 3 ft. over the highway Thursday night, recedes.

Spearing Carp
Auburn residents had a sight-seeing holiday Thursday, taking photographs of wide flood area, and spearing carp from the highway. Many acres of cropland in the area are flooded but damage cannot yet be estimated.

Dep. Sheriff Vern Hunzeker said that extensive damage to crops was caused by the high winds which accompanied the Thursday morning downpour southwest of Auburn. The winds uprooted trees and destroyed a shed on the Walter Zabel farm.

Near Falls City, 4 teenage boys were rescued from a county road bridge where they had gone to watch the water and been stranded by rising water. They were spotted by a low-flying plane.

A twist cut a path on a line north and south of Cook Thursday but did little damage except to break off tops of trees and destroy 12 pine trees in the Cook Cemetery. Power lines were also cut in that area.

State Patrol officers in the area reported that Muddy Creek between Falls City and Rulo temporarily closed Neb. 4 Thursday night.

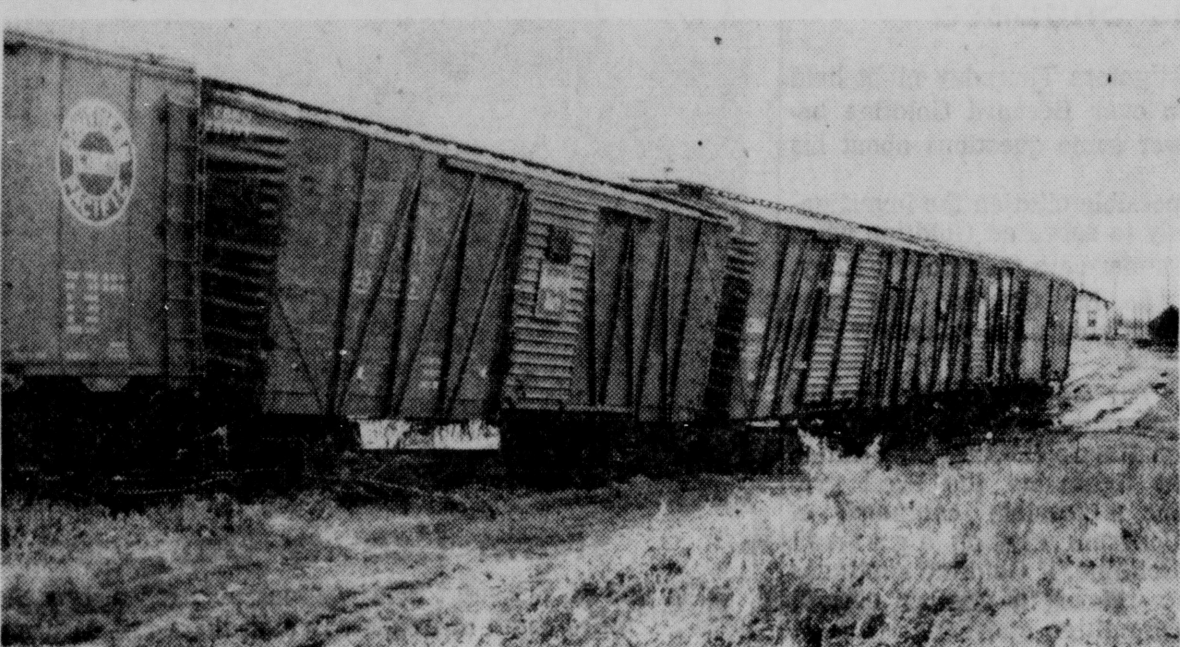

Eye On Plum Creek
At Seward, residents kept an eye on Lincoln Creek and Plum Creek which were running at near flood stage, but receding. Lowlands around the town were flooded but no evacuations were necessary.

Water surrounds from all but one side and largely covers this farm about a mile east of Auburn.

Ashland fire department officials remained on alert Thursday night as Salt Creek rose to 13.6 ft., 2 1/2 ft. above flood stage. Residential areas were protected as dikes held. The main downtown street and bridge over the creek were flooded but passable.

The river was still rising late Thursday night and Ashland residents were sandbagging the area, still expecting to be able to hold the water back from low areas.

About 5 families moved their household goods out of their homes as the Salt Creek readings at Ashland remained above bank full level.

Hail Damage Heavy

In the Nebraska City area, hail was the main cause of damage. A quarter of wheat in the Douglas vicinity was reported ruined and corn in the area also badly damaged.

Farther south hail ripped through an area 6 miles wide and 10 miles long southwest of Auburn. Hail damage was also reported in scattered areas as far west as Kearney.

Although out of the flood area, Grand Island and Hastings areas came in for rains averaging 2 to 3 inches and hail which caused heavy crop damage in scattered areas.

Tornado winds struck the Tecumseh area, toppling lots of trees in town. A tree at the Ralph Johnson home was blown onto the house, caving in a portion of the roof. Considerable water entered the Johnson house via the roof, causing much damage.

Johnson County Sheriff A. J. Olson reported a heavy crop loss due to hail in an area one mile east of Tecumseh northeast as far as Johnson, 10 miles away. Oats and wheat fields were destroyed, while corn was beaten into the ground. Hail also fell in the Elk Creek, and Cook farm areas.

Big Nemaha Drops
The Big Nemaha river at Tecumseh dropped about 5 feet late Thursday after rising to just about bankful at 9 a.m.

The Little Nemaha River was back in its banks late

Thursday at Palmyra. Earlier in the day 3 families were moved out of their homes at Palmyra as a precautionary measure. However, the water failed to rise high enough to get into their homes.

Water ran into a pit at the Farmers Elevator at Palmyra, but only one bin of grain got wet, according to Walter Wood, elevator manager.

A hog house on the W. E. Beechan farm west of Palmyra was washed away by flood water from the Little Nemaha. Burlington railroad tracks between Palmyra and Unadilla were also washed out.

Hail severely damaged cropland in a 3-mile wide strip from Bennet to Palmyra. A number of bridges were reported out on county roads in Otoe County, including a bridge on the road leading to the Northern Natural Gas booster station northeast of Palmyra.

Family Evacuated

The William Holscher family living on the east edge of Unadilla was evacuated as flooding threatened there. However, the water did not reach the house. High water at Unadilla was receding late Thursday.

A few Syracuse families left their homes as the flood threat was sounded there, but the Little Nemaha stayed within its banks, and was going down late Thursday. Syracuse received 2.50 inches of rainfall within a 30 minute period, and a total of 5.75 inches in 7 hours.

Although Lancaster County reported the heaviest rainfall amounts in the Thursday storms, other areas were the hardest hit by high water from the runoff.

Flooded Fields, Roads Left In Wake Of Cloudbursts

Torrential rains left flooded fields, washboard roads and water-filled basements throughout most of Lancaster County Thursday and residents of hard-hit Denton, Panama and Bennet were pumping out.

At Panama, hail reported as big as golf balls lashed windows in the town, and nearly all homes suffered glass breakage. The Panama school had 17 broken windows. However, roads around Panama were reported in good shape, although minor washing had occurred.

Panama recorded 7 inches of rainfall; Denton and Bennet, 6.51 inches.

At Hickman, a 4-inch deluge washed railroad tracks badly and several carloads of wheat, about to topple, were propped up at the last minute and saved.

Home Evacuated

At Raymond, a 5-inch cloudburst swelled Oak Creek and some flooding was reported in low areas. One house along the creek was evacuated as waters entered the first floor. However, damage was slight.

Roads west of Roca were reported impassable as rampaging Salt Creek flooded lowland areas. Roca reported more than 5 inches of rain.

'Miss Demo' Title Won By Catholic Nun

Spokane (P)—Flabbergasted Democrats found out Thursday that the winner of their "Miss Spokane County Democrat" contest is an attractive 22-year-old Catholic nun named Sister M. Consilia.

And it turned out that she's more nonpartisan than Democrat with strong admiration for Eisenhower.

The "Miss Democrat" contest was run as a party promotion open to all young women in the county, the winner to be chosen on the basis of an essay on, "why I should exercise my right to vote."

Beauty wasn't supposed to be a factor, but the Democrats figured on attractive miss they could show off at the party's state convention next week in Yakima. They even made plans to have her get up on the platform and receive the $100 first prize check from Gov. Albert D. Rosellini.

Sister Consilia read about the contest in the newspapers and decided to enter under her family name, Bonnie Jean Brown.

The judges paged through dozens of entries and finally decided on hers. Mrs. Florence Davis, a contest official, telephoned, asked for Bonnie Jean Brown and said she had won the contest.

Sister Consilia was delighted. So was Sister M. Perpetua, the mother superior. So were the other 17 sisters who knew she had entered.

Sister Perpetua promptly announced that Sister Consilia would not only accept the $100 prize money but would go to the convention to get it from the governor.

After a visit in Lafayette, Ind., David and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Ferrall, were on their way to a fishing site in Colorado. Nearing Lincoln, David became ill.

In no time at all he found himself involved in an emergency appendectomy at a Lincoln hospital.

But he is reported doing fine and the nurse says he should be on his way in a couple of days.

State To Give Evidence At CAB Hearing

The Nebraska Aeronautics Department will present evidence, along with oral and written testimony at Civil Aeronautics Board hearings on the Kansas-Oklahoma local service case July 18 in Topeka, Kan.

Roland Harr, department director, said he probably would be accompanied to the hearings by community representatives from Lincoln, Beatrice, Grand Island, Hastings, Kearney, Fairbury and Omaha, cities which will be affected by a favorable decision in the case.

The hearings will be on the proposed north-south flight service between Kansas points and Omaha.

The Topeka hearings will last from July 15 to 21, at which time they will be removed to Oklahoma City.

Joyce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Burns of 4242 South, was named 1958 Nebraska state champion baton twirler in the senior division at the state contest.

As a result of her performance at the Nebraska contest, Joyce was issued an invitation to compete in the Kansas open and state contest. Joyce piled up the points for a perfect score and a 1st-place medal.

Joyce was offered a scholarship to Kansas State Teachers College at Emporia as another reward for her perfect performance at the Kansas contest.

It ended, too, with assurances that Eisenhower "believes very much that this was a very worthwhile meeting" between himself and Prime Minister John G. Diefenbaker.

That was the word relayed to newsmen by White House secretary James C. Hagerty. For himself, Diefenbaker told the Canadian House of Commons that there has been a spirit of consideration of each other's problems during the discussions "that bodes well for the future."

Not Dropped

While there were few specific, concrete steps to improve troubled relations between the two neighbor nations, Hagerty said that topics which have caused concern and friction "are not just going to be dropped now" and the discussions will not be ended just because the present conference has ended.

He added that he thinks the meetings have led "to a personal relationship between the President and the Prime Minister that is very good for both our countries."

That, Hagerty added, is what the meetings were called for.

And, he added, there were some important agreements which represented good steps forward. Hagerty mentioned the decision to set up the cabinet committee on defense, another to consult on conflicting laws and policy on exports, particularly to Red China, and a decision to work on plans for inspection and control that might prevent a surprise attack in the Arctic.

Road Building Tops State June Expense Totals

State Auditor Ray C. Johnson issued 38,139 warrants totaling $15,267,449 to conduct the state's business during the month of June.

Good weather brought increased highway construction and the 5,695 warrants totaling $7,002,465 drawn against the highway cash fund represented the largest single expense of state government during the month.

Some 3,800 warrants totaling $952,427 were drawn against the University of Nebraska's cash auxiliary fund, and 3,444 warrants totaling $721,645 were drawn to pay costs at state institutions.

Faulty Bond Instructions Blamed For Petition Failure

... By NSIA Director Mares

The Nebraska School Improvement Association explained Thursday that its petition drive to determine whether the state commissioner of education should be elected or appointed failed because of improper instructions on bonding requirements for petition circulators.

The secretary of state's office announced officially Thursday that the petition drive failed for lack of sufficient valid signatures. The NSIA petitions had 53,664 valid signatures, 3,130 short of the required number in order to place the issue on the November ballot.

NSIA Director Victor Mares said the group had more than 7,000 signatures over the 58,764 tallied by the secretary of state's office which would not be included because petition circulators' bonds were not in proper form.

Mares said 4,090 of the 7,000 were filed with the secretary of state, but were not tallied because the bond covering a number of the circulators was ruled invalid by the attorney general because of "technically improper wording."

'Sufficient'

Stating that these extra 4,090 signatures "would undoubtedly have been sufficient to place the issue on the ballot," Mares said the NSIA had "relied on assurances given by trusted sources that the bond was in proper form."

The Association said it had another 3,000 signatures which it did not file with the secretary of state because of the improper bond matter.

Top 2 In Mexico

Mexico City (AP) — Mexican movie exhibitors report the best boxoffice draws for the first 6 months this year were Mexico's own Cantinflas and Hollywood's Rock Hudson.

Mares said as soon as the NSIA was informed that the bond would not be accepted, it "regrouped its forces and put on a crash program to attempt to make up the large bloc of signatures that had been invalidated" by the bond disapproval, "but unfortunately, time was too short."

"This last-minute attempt to make up lost ground," he continued, "may have appeared to unavoidably result in some confusion."

Commends Workers

Mares commended the "many volunteer circulators" who gave their time in this effort, and the "many others" who gave their valuable support.

"Judging from the overwhelmingly favorable sentiment expressed by those who were contacted by the circulators," Mares continued, "the NSIA feels certain that the people of Nebraska should be given an opportunity to vote on this important question."

Mares said the Association has moved its headquarters from Burwell to Alliance and that Mrs. Clarence Heath of Alliance has been named the new executive secretary to succeed Leo F. Clinch of Burwell.

He announced that the Association will meet soon at Alliance to decide "what further action it will take."

a BIG word or two about those stamps

In the past two weeks four foreign trading stamp companies have contacted Beechners to show what they could do for us and our customers—at a price of course—

Last year the largest food chain (A & P and no stamps) made 1.06% on sales, the largest percent in seven years. Grocery margins and profits just don't permit giving free stamps.

Food Fair, eastern chain, last month discontinued stamps at a Miami unit (perhaps a test store for South Florida) but gave as the reason, "to make it possible to accomplish a value packed program."

as for stamps Beechners would prefer FIRST CHOICE to OWN a good Trading Stamp Company

SECOND CHOICE

to be the ONLY store to issue (no one gives) trading stamps.

THIRD CHOICE

to be the ONLY store NOT issuing stamps which is the best choice after all. Amen

Beechners have always had a value packed program,—have never had to raise a single price because of a premium or stamp plan—have made it possible for customers to save MONEY.

We quote from a letter we received just last week—"What a nuisance these trading stamps are getting to be! I'd think anyone with a mind of a second grade level would realize that it costs money for printing and handling those stamps and it all has to be paid for by Uno Who. I'd rather my money bought groceries than odds and ends. I find yours are rock bottom prices." Thanks.

Hope For Retarded Child

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

Some idea of the significance of the proposed state school for mentally retarded children was conveyed in remarks made by Dr. Vernon Hungate, state director of special education. This school, to be located at Cozad, will not merely attempt to educate a certain and comparatively small number of such children.

As Dr. Hungate pointed out, the school will go a long way toward determining the future of all mentally retarded but "trainable" children. There are some 1,500 to 2,000 of these children in Nebraska. If the Cozad school is successful, it could lead to either more such facilities or possibly the acceptance of trainable children in the public school system. To whatever extent is proven possible or feasible, the latter course would be preferable.

The Cozad school will be well worth the investment of Nebraskans for the accomplishment it could realize toward greater acceptance of the trainable retarded child. In past times, many such children have passed their entire lifetimes away as a complete burden upon society.

What is even worse, their lives have been wasted in a personal sense. Those who could have had a comparatively normal existence and been a productive part of the world around them have spent their days in seclusion and isolation — content perhaps, in a way, but never sharing in the realities of life.

What the Cozad school will do is provide the proof here in Nebraska that such a situation or condition is often unwarranted. This will lead to more widespread acceptance of mental retardation as a partially curable disease, at least. When this happens, one of the greatest needs in this field will have been met.

Contrary to what is the popular belief among many people, a mentally retarded child is not necessarily a hopeless child insofar as his place in the world is concerned. Many of these children can be educated to a considerable extent, permitting them to live a normal life and earn a living.

These are not children who are devoid of all human traits or characteristics. They know all the elements of human emotion. They love their parents, their sisters and brothers. They feel pain and suffering and normal wants, desires, likes and dislikes.

They may be limited in their mental capacity but there is nothing uncommon in that. Unfortunately, they are more limited than the average but this does not mean they are beyond all ability to comprehend. They can understand right from wrong and they can be taught many things, both physical and mental.

The great difficulty has been in the failure of the public to accept the fact that a mental deficiency and a mental void are not one and the same thing. The Cozad school will definitely bring closer the day when such misunderstanding is a thing of the past. Not until that day arrives can any program for the mentally retarded be completely successful. Such a child will never find the place he should have in life unless and until he is accepted as an adult for what he really is.

It would be a day for which all of Nebraska could be proud when the education of the mentally retarded was removed at least in part, from the jurisdiction of the Board of Control. This is one of the possibilities seen by Dr. Hungate and one which should receive encouragement from every thoughtful citizen and public official.

Wire Tapping Is Common In Capital

WASHINGTON — This writer, who for some years has specialized on getting the inside news from Cabinet meetings and smoked-filled rooms, has been the subject of considerable ribbing on having his ace sleuth caught in company with the ace sleuth of the Harris congressional committee. The ribbing is justified.

Two wrongs don't make a right, but the mistake Baron Shacklette, the Harris committee's chief investigator, made was in "bugging" the room next to him in the Sheraton-Carlton hotel instead of using the Washington police.

The Metropolitan police are not supposed to bug rooms or tap wires for either private individuals or congressional committees. It is strictly against the rules. However, they do it just the same, as demonstrated by the operations of Police Lieut. Joseph Shimon when he spied on Howard Hughes, the West Coast airplane manufacturer, and his executives for the benefit of Pan American Airways. Congressional testimony developed the fact that Lieut. Shimon not only directed eavesdropping on the Hughes entourage at two Washington hotels, but that Washington police tapped the telephone of the late Sen. Josiah Bailey of North Carolina, then chairman of the Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee, who had the power to pass on important legislation affecting Pan American Airways.

After the Senate probe was all over, Lieut. Shimon went before a police review board to see whether he should be penalized. He was exonerated and given a new, choice assignment.

That is how the nation's capital has looked upon wire-tapping and microphone-placing and similar undercover sleuthing in the past. It's not a happy state of affairs in a democracy, and I have written various columns regarding it.

It's become something of a habit lately for big businessmen who are under investigation and have plenty of money to spend, to hire detectives to probe congressmen. Most congressmen are just as clean as Ike's proverbial "hound's tooth," and many of them are a lot cleaner. But with even the cleanest, a smart investigator can sometimes dig up a skeleton which can hurt in a tough election battle. Shacklette, the committee's ex-investigator, was checking on this counterespionage.

It's a sad travesty on life in the nation's capital that few hotel rooms are 100 per cent safe if you want to discuss matters highly confidential. Nor are private offices. When you went into the office of former Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau, he usually pushed a secret button on his desk which turned on a recording machine. General Eisenhower, when commander of NATO, could push a little lever on his desk which recorded the conversation of visitors.

I have never placed a microphone in anyone's room in my life or tapped a telephone wire, and never shall. But when I don't want to let either government investigators or private gumshoes know what I'm talking about I move out of my office into the garden or talk in an automobile.

The New York Times recently revealed that newsmen were being shadowed by agents of the Eisenhower administration. This is true, but it's an old story. I was shadowed more under the Truman administration. The chief reason for the shadowing is to ascertain a newsmen's sources.

Poor Farmer—Beetles, Bugs And Benson

By MONA B. PARKER

With farmers eager to be at the job of opening the fields, there were two somewhat embarrassed operators in Callaway and the reason for their embarrassment was the spottiness with which a Nebraska thunder-shower can choose to deposit its moisture.

During an evening down-pour, they decided to sleep late the next morning, since fields and roads would be muddy. After a late and leisurely breakfast, they learned that while Callaway had had over an inch of rain, the surrounding countryside had received only a sprinkle, and farmers had been up early and waiting to be about their labors.

A local elevator in Cambridge is busily erecting a 100,000-bushel storage capacity structure. With 15 workers on the job, they are hoping to have it completed in a record three days.

The greatest fear, next to the devastation that wind and hail can bring, as the time for harvest of small grain nears is that of fire

There was editorial surmising that an old-timer who came into town recently to shop might be the victim of slightly weary tootsies. A York merchant told of the elderly gentleman who was in to purchase a pair of his favorite high shoes. The customer's home is 17 miles southwest of York, and he had made the round trip on foot.

reaching the dry fields. And fields heavy with wheat and awaiting the combine were threatened with that menace near Syracuse this week. The blaze started in a thick five miles northeast of town and was halted just in time by volunteer firemen.

Chief causes for the concern are tossing away of cigarettes and driving overheated vehicles into the fields.

Harvest time tends to bring more than just the crop yield to people's minds, as evidenced by this expression in the Syracuse Journal-Democrat:

"Conversation overheard recently at gatherings in our area lead us to believe there is more than a little thought being given to who owned what combines and other farm equipment in Otsego County on the March 1 assessment date."

Ed Krikac looked out over lush fields near Comstock and considered the crop of small grain there extremely promising unless a late hail storm comes along. Then he combined a bit of optimism and a smattering of pessimism and an adage of some age.

"The old saying is that we never hit both a small grain and a corn crop—but I'm gettin' the horse ahead of the buggy—we have neither yet."

We all have our troubles, the Bertrand Herald agrees, but consider for a moment the plight of the poor farmer. He contends with drought, rain, hail, army worms, cut worms, wire worms, grasshoppers, He-sian flies, mosaic, clover beetles, and Benson. Yet, year after year he is back to try again.

The Cuming County board of supervisors would have been justified, perhaps, in telling its claims committee that it would be a mighty hot day in July before they'd consider paying for a snow shovel.

It was a hot day, but the bill for the cold-weather-task equipment went through without opposition. The explanation was that the custodian had just got around to presenting the bill for a shovel he had purchased last winter.

PHYLLIS BATTELLE

The Life Of A Professional Quiz-Show-Contestant-Getter

NEW YORK—I have today a hot tip for people who want to appear on a TV quiz show, so as to win dishwashers and influence impressionable neighbors.

They should hang around theatres at intermission; should look middle-aged and jolly and not too pretty; should live as far as possible from New York, and should be able to talk volubly but have the good grace to clam up when spoken to.

"This is what I spend my days and nights looking for," said Ted Walsh, sleepily. "I am an independent quiz-show-contestant-getter, and it was not an easy job."

It was an equally difficult job to believe that, with all the free yachts and minks available on dozens of new parlor programs this summer, a man should have to be sent out to hunt down TV contestants. But the fact is that "fun-loving, outgoing people are hard to find," said Ted.

"You have to be very careful not to select anybody with a chip on the shoulder. They're bad losers. And the world as it is today has more shoulder chips than meets the eye."

Each day, beginning after noon, young Ted begins his rounds. He stops at Broadway theatre intermissions, eavesdropping on members of the audience to listen for enthusiastic, bright, affable types.

He hangs around the box office of "Around The World In 80 Days" listening for "typical lovable American" voices and sentiments. Sometimes he hovers outside the United Nations, hoping to pick up exciting foreign tourists with understandable accents. And at night, he often takes New York "night club tours" — because on such gay excursions "you find people who are looking for fun, and fun-seekers are what I seek."

Then, when the eavesdropping elimination job is finished, Walsh selects the potential contestants for the two shows he scouts in behalf of—"Haggis Baggis" and "Dotto." Here's where the real work comes in.

"Most out-of-towners are suspicious when I approach them, and think maybe this is a Brooklyn Bridge pitch. And a lot of them are actually afraid to go on television quizzes. Afraid they'll look like dunces."

Because of his honest doorknocker face, however, Ted convinces a good percentage of his prospects to visit his employer, Diana Lawson (of Lawson & Lawson, quiz-show-contestant-getters) for further interviewing. His work then is done — until his contestants call back after the show to ask Young Honest-Face to help them sell their prizes, so they can afford to pay the taxes on them.

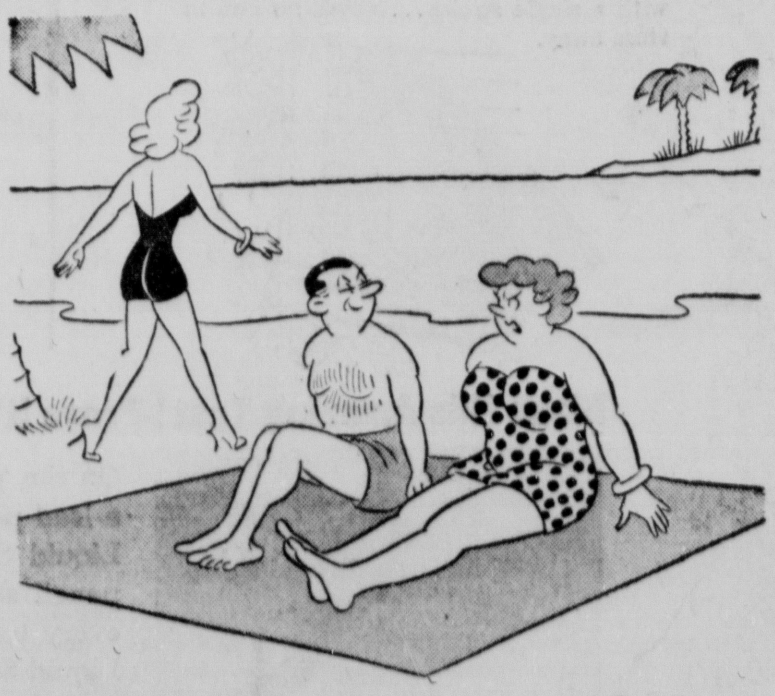

For the sake of those who might not run into Ted in the course of a visit to the Great White Way, he may be contacted c/o Lawson & Lawson, 624 Madison Avenue. But remember the "typical" contestant should live as far as possible from New York. Be a good loser, love life, hate nobody and "look as if they've lived a little; at least 35 or 40 years."

Ted explains, in this regard, that he has succeeded in getting only one fairly young man (aged 30) on his shows: "He had a broken nose, which roughed him up a good deal."

Besides his honest face, Walsh has an honest way about him. Asked his opinion of quiz shows, he cringed enthusiastically and said, "I will do anything for a buck."

OFF THE RECORD By Ed. Reed

"Just how do you mean that about 'I've got TWICE the figure she has?'"

Checkbook Bombardment

The Department of Agriculture has scheduled five regional meetings for late July and early August to acquaint its state and local farmer committees with the provisions of the 1959 version of its soil bank program. One of them will be held at Omaha for two days starting August 6.

The committeemen can dwell on the details. For general purposes the 1959 program will retire farm land from production at an average annual payment of $13.50 per productive acre. It will be possible to place entire farms in the conservation reserve. And the department hopes to add another 12½ million acres to its reserve which through past contracts now contains 10½ million acres. That will be 23 million acres in all.

After all the tinkering with flexible price supports and Benson schemes for controlling over-production the administration is retreating more and more into the device of hiring land out of production. If the public treasury holds out it is conceivable that it will finally be able to arrange production in line with consumption.

There is some interesting arithmetic in the soil bank program. Ten year programs at $13.50 per acre per annum means that the administration proposes to pay out $135 an acre for something it does not expect to own, and which, ultimately, will come back into production to pose a second and possibly greater problem in the national over-production. In terms of constructive, long range planning this smacks of a defense expedient rather than a remedy. A hard-headed Yankee might ask why an outright land purchase plan would not be better. It, too, would be costly but it would represent a conversion of assets rather than an irretrievable loss.

Abundant production is not new in the United States. It comes nearer being a permanent condition than an occasional one. Treatment of the farm problem as though it is something that somehow will go away in a few seasons is an extremely costly way of ignoring facts.

Adenauer Wins Again

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer won a significant test when his Christian Democratic Union won 104 out of 200 seats in the state assembly for the North Rhine-Westphalia district.

The election was of surpassing interest because it did not center on local issues. The Social Democrats made and the Christian Democrats accepted the national issue of whether Germany wished to accept atomic arms from the United States. It was a climax to two years of heavy campaigning against such weapons by the Social Democrats. In essence a victory for them would have challenged the entire position of the Adenauer government, its close relations with the West and the unity of the major non-communist nations.

The victory does not mean total endorsement of the Adenauer government because there are four more regional elections to come in West Germany and the arms issue will be tried in each one. But the North Rhine-Westphalia decision appeared critical since that is the heavily industrialized section of West Germany, stronger than others, perhaps, in socialism and most subject to arguments of atomic destruction because it is a most attractive military target.

Unquestionably the great prestige of the elderly German chancellor influenced the outcome, but another influence was the recent Stalinist line of Russia which in the execution of political deviationists and general hardness of policy convinced many Germans of the pointlessness of going along with any schemes soft toward Russia. There doesn't seem to be any point from which West Germany can proceed to effect a reunion with east Germany without accepting East Germany's subject position.

At any rate the election again demonstrates, as other events have in the past, that West Germany is serving as the anchor for Western interests in central Europe—a pretty good record for a once formidable enemy.

Lincoln's Deluge

Nothing, of course, can be said to lighten the burden of loss and inconvenience suffered in such a soaking as Lincoln received Wednesday night and Thursday morning. Only thanks may be given that conditions did not reach the stage of loss of human life.

What flooding there was also failed to approach some of the proportions of past years and for this there can be both thanks and encouragement. There is encouragement in the fact that there was a day not so long ago when a four-inch rain in such a short period of time would have caused considerably more damage than did this one.

The credit for averting a greater catastrophe must go to improvements that have been made recently in Lincoln's drainage system and in the tributaries that flow through the city. For its entire distance through the city, Salt Creek has been greatly improved with channel-widening, deepening and straightening by the Sanitary District. Antelope Creek has been improved with both channel work and new bridge-crossing by both the district and the city of Lincoln. Dead Man's Run, too, has been improved some but is still in need of quite a bit more work.

The heavy rains should give impetus to completion of those flood control plans which have still not been completed. It is hoped that either the district or city obtained rainfall readings and flood measurements at various points in the city during the downpour period. Such information is the only reliable method for judging the adequacy of what has been done and for arriving at decisions for the future.

The officials of these two governments should carefully study these reports. One thing which possibly could be learned from them is the extent of need for additional Antelope Creek capacity in the underground conduit area from N to Vine. This can be determined from rainfall in Lincoln downstream from the proposed 56th and Van Dorn damsite and the level of the creek at various points through the city. If the effort to make this study is not made, the only benefit to be gained from the flooding will have been lost.

DORIS FLESON

Ike's Trade Bill Under Alteration

WASHINGTON — A combination of oil, textiles, mining and chemicals has won the first Senate tests of strength of President Eisenhower's reciprocal trade program. Its victories, recorded in the finance committee, are still tentative, but its margin is such that it cannot easily be overcome either in the committee or on the floor.

The result is to pose both an immediate, pressing challenge to the President to bring Republicans into line and a test of Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson's sincerity in proclaiming his support of the bill substantially as introduced. Both men must get on the ball fast and so must the forces behind the measure if the strong adverse tide now set in motion is to be reversed.

For the agreements today are very much less a matter of partisan politics than in their early days when President Franklin D. Roosevelt and then Secretary of State Cordell Hull swung big Democratic majorities behind them and Republicans, almost to a man, said no. As the House battle showed, reciprocal trade is winning Republican converts, though not yet in sufficient numbers, it appears, to overcome a rising protectionism in the increasingly industrialized South.

The Finance Committee held its first informative session behind closed doors with these men present: Democrats Harry F. Byrd, Chairman Robert S. Kerr, Russell B. Long, Paul H. Douglas and Albert Gore; Republicans Edward Martin, John J. Williams, Ralph E. Flanders, George W. Malone, Frank Carlson, Wallace F. Bennett and William E. Jenner. Absentees were Democrats J. Allen Frear, George A. Smathers and Clinton P. Anderson.

It was clear at the start that strong sentiment existed for cutting down the five-year extension proposed by the President. Democratic liberals were buoyed by reports that Martin and Williams were coming down on the President's side, which would give them four of the seven Republicans.

On the other limiting amendments, chiefly technical, the story was much the same except that Chairman Byrd was friendly to most of them and fathered one.

The outlook is clearly unpromising, even though the votes are tentative and the Senate is often more liberal than its finance committee. Copyright, 1958, By U.P. Syndicate, Inc.

House Votes Security Plan For All U.S. Workers

Washington (AP)—The House voted 295-46 to extend the government's security program to all federal employees.

The measure is designed to overcome a Supreme Court ruling that the program applies only to employees in sensitive positions affecting the national security.

The bill would provide that the head of any U.S. government department or agency may suspend the employment of any civilian officer or employee "when deemed necessary in the interest of national security."

Investigation

It says that following a suspension, within 30 days, any employee will have an opportunity to show why he should be restored to duty.

Following an investigation and review the department or agency head may terminate the employment of the suspended employee whenever he determines it necessary or advisable.

The measure provides for an appeal to the Civil Service Commission.

The House added its version to a much narrower Senate bill. The Senate bill simply added one provision to existing law to make suspension discretionary. The measure now goes back to the Senate.

Robeson Leaves On Europe Trip

New York (AP)—Paul Robeson, Negro singer, left by plane for London Thursday with the passport he had been seeking since 1950.

Robeson, supporter of Communist-front causes and a winner of the Stalin Peace Prize, had been restricted from traveling abroad since 1950. He was denied a passport because he repeatedly refused to sign a non-Communist affidavit which the State Department required before issuing a passport.

A recent Supreme Court decision outlawed the requirement. Robeson said he was "very happy over the Supreme Court decision."

"I would stress very much that my career has been firmly re-established within the last year," the 60-year-old singer said, "and I want to thank the millions of people in this country and particularly the Negro churches, for their support."

—Board Of Equalization—

5 Counties Summoned To Explain Valuation Slices

The State Board of Equalization Thursday approved a motion to call 5 counties—Blaine, Brown, Cheyenne, Garfield and Hooker—before it to explain some decreases shown in abstracts submitted on their tax valuations for 1958.

The Board reviewed abstracts from 41 counties at its meeting Thursday and requested State Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington to write letters to approximately 20 of these counties, asking them to explain some of their decreases.

Most of the written inquiries on devaluations center on reduced valuations of stocks and bonds and business inventories.

Farm Land Cut

One of the counties asked to appear before the Board, Blaine will be asked to explain why it reduced the value of farm lands and real estate in light of its low sales assessment ratio.

Brown County will be asked to explain reductions in its business valuations and farm lands; Cheyenne County will be queried on lower business valuations, reductions on farm lands and stocks and bonds, and Garfield will be called to explain its reduction of $3,600,000 on farm lands and stocks and bonds.

Hooker County's figures were described as "just plain too low," and the Board showed particular concern about that county's farm land reductions.

Meets Monday

The Board is scheduled to meet Monday morning with the tax commissioner's field men who, had they been present Thursday, would have been able "to explain a lot of these problems," Tax Commissioner Fred Herrington stated.

The Board will meet again Monday afternoon to review more county abstracts and decide which should be called to appear for further explanations.

Gov. Victor Anderson, chairman of the Board, commented that he believes there is "better equalization this year between the counties than there has been before."

He said he believes the county assessors and boards of equalization are "doing more to do an accurate job" and that they "have the support of the people too."

Anderson said, "We all realize we must treat everybody as equally as we can."

Bang Heads Ag Teachers

Alfred Bang of Grand Island was elected president Thursday of the Nebraska Vocational Agriculture Assn. as the group wound up its 3-day annual conference in Lincoln. He succeeds Duane Foote of Chappell.

James L. Albracht, vocational agriculture instructor from Hebron, was named to serve in the vice-president post. Duane Dunning of St. Paul will remain for another year as secretary-treasurer.

The afternoon business session followed an early morning breakfast and several workshops. Harold Walker, Vo Ag instructor from Arkansas City, Kan., spoke on "The Project of Teaching Cooperation As Used In Kansas."

A coffee hour for wives of visiting instructors was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Duis of 6600 Van Dorn. Committee reports and District meetings end the activities.

Duane Everett of Nebraska was elected president of the Lincoln district. Other officers of District II are: Don Hansen of Plattsmouth, vice-president; and Leon Kreiner of Seward, secretary.

County Red Cross Offers Flood Aid

The Lancaster County Red Cross disaster committee Thursday advised that the Red Cross is prepared to give necessary assistance to those whose homes have been seriously damaged by flood waters and who are unable to meet the costs of repairs.

According to Fred K. Steiner, disaster chairman, those who wish to request such help may call at the Red Cross office, 312 So. 12th.

MISS COLLEEN BAKER

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Baker of Tekamah are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Colleen, of Lincoln, to Lyle A. Gesch of Seattle, Wash., son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert G. Gesch of Tacoma, Wash.

The wedding is planned for Sunday, Oct. 5.

Miss Baker is a former student at the University of Nebraska where she is affiliated with Towne Club.

SUBURBIA

Courtesies for guests, newcomers and vacations are featured in the news from South Hills and Kessler Heights this morning. So without further ado, we'll tell you that...

SOUTH HILLS

There seems to be no lag in activity in the Lyle Weishahn household this summer. We heard, for instance, that Mr. and Mrs. Weishahn recently returned from a vacation trip to Colorado where they visited friends at Greeley, Denver, Derby and Colorado Springs. During their parents' absence the younger generation in the family—Donna and Douglas—were guests of Mrs. John Boehler at Sutton.

And upon their return home the Weishahns welcomed their guest, Mrs. Weishahn's sister, Miss Judy Boehler of Sutton, who visited in the suburb for a week. We understand that it was on Monday when Mrs. Weishahn was hostess at a dinner party and informal evening. Guests for the gala affair were, in addition to Miss Boehler, the Rev. and Mrs. Milton Weishahn and their family of Des Moines, Ia., Mrs. Louis Weishahn and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Taylor and their daughter, Cynthia, of Lodi, Calif.

One of the past social events in South Hills was the 4th of July neighborhood get-together at which 8 families who reside on Brower Road were among the guests. The holiday celebration was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Powell.

KESSLER HEIGHTS

Mr. and Mrs. John Gere and their four-year-old daughter, Julie Ellen, moved into the Kessler Heights suburb at 2024 Burnham St. last month, and we want to extend a hearty welcome to the threesome this morning, and also tell you about their house guests. We understand that Mr. and Mrs. Gere's daughter, Mrs. Jack Gartner and her young daughter Joedy, arrived last Sunday morning from their home at Estes Park, Colo., and will be visiting in the suburb for about two weeks.

Last Friday, Saturday and Sunday were three exceedingly busy and enjoyable days for Mr. and Mrs. Walt Clossner and their son, Gary.

Their out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Joe Manasco and their daughter, Sanda, of Omaha, and we understand that the Clossners entertained at a barbecue supper during each evening of their visit. Joining the group on Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Lowell Clossner and her young daughter, bie, and Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Taylor and their son, Denny. On Saturday evening Mr. and Mrs. Arville Davis, Mr. and Mrs. Dal Roseberg and Mr. and Mrs. Clossner were on hand for the gala party, and included among the guests on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. A. Wilson.

Vacationing in the suburb the past week were Mr. and Mrs. Lucian A. McManus and their children, Steve, Madeline, Mike, Patricia and Kelly, who hail from Nashville, Tenn. The McManus family divided the stay in Lincoln between Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Heelan and their children and Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McManus and their family. The visitors will leave today to begin their motor trip home.

Honored

Miss Joanne Stolley and her fiancé, Vernon Mares, were honored at a family dinner on Sunday, July 6. The noon affair was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Nielsen, and out-of-town guests present for the afternoon included Mrs. Clara Baasch, Frank Hoffman, Ben Elstermeier, Janice Elstermeier and Mr. and Mrs. Elvin Denman and their daughter, Connie, all of Grand Island, and Mr. and Mrs. Ray Rhoades and their daughters of Omaha.

Late Sunday afternoon Mrs. Bruno Lueth and Mrs. Anna Rhoades entertained for the bride-elect at a dessert supper which was held at the Lueth home. During the informal affair a miscellaneous shower was presented to the honoree.

The marriage of Miss Stolley and Mr. Mares will take place on Friday, July 11, and the 7:30 o'clock ceremony will be solemnized at the Havelock Christian Church.

A Little Of This, That In The News

—there's a little of this and that to talk about this morning—homecomers—a guest who has come and gone—guests who have just arrived—and of course no day would be complete without news of a bride-elect.

—and the bride-elect we have in mind is Miss Ann Stebbins who will share honors with her fiancé, Frank C. Sidles this evening when Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Roehl and Mrs. John H. Ames will be hosts and hostesses at dinner at the Lincoln Country Club.

The guest list will include members of the families.

—leaving on Thursday to return to her home in Phoenix, Ariz., was Miss Sally Lorenson who had been spending a month as the guest of a Wellesley classmate, Miss Carol Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Thompson.

During her stay in Lincoln Miss Lorenson was complimented with a variety of informal courtesies.

—understand that Mrs. Albert Speier will be returning one day next week from New York City, where she has been spending several days visiting her son, Paul Speier.

—back in town are Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Cooper, their daughters, Kay and Sandy, and their son Tom. Mr. and Mrs. Cooper and their daughters left three weeks ago for Virginia Beach, Va., where they were joined by another daughter, Miss Mary Lou Cooper of New York City—and their son and brother, Tom Cooper who had been attending a national debating tournament at Sioux Falls, S.D. After a few days at Virginia Beach the travelers visited Washington D.C., Williamsburg, Va., and various other interesting places in the east and south.

—from St. Louis, Mo., comes news of the arrival of Gregory William Heidrick on Monday, July 7. The young man is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Heidrick, and his mother is the former Mary Essay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Essay. Dr. and Mrs. Paul Heidrick are the paternal grandparents.

Mr. Heidrick is attending the St. Louis University School of Medicine.

Dear Abby . . .

She's Wasting Time

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I like to take rides in the car on the summer evenings. We are friends with another couple who are neighbors and they usually go with us and we stop for a shake or sundae or something. My problem is that my wife always puts the other man in the front seat with me and she gets in back with the neighbor lady. They talk like a pair of hens and I don't have anything to talk to this man about. The women don't let me turn on the radio because they can't hear each other. What is your advice?

BORED

DEAR BORED: Tell your wife is so many loving words that the reason you married her was because you liked her company. Ask her to ride in the front with you and gab with the ladyfriend on her own time.

DEAR ABBY: I am a widower 76 years of age and in good health. The last three years I've been thinking of taking a trip to my home town in Italy. I have my own money to go with and the only thing that's holding me back is that my children are very much against my going. They think I'm too old to travel alone. I keep telling them when I came here I came alone, so what's the difference? Should I go?

FROSINONE, HERE I COME

DEAR FROSINONE: If you are in good health and have your own money, you don't need permission from your children. Tell them you can take care of yourself, and Frosinone had better watch out.

DEAR ABBY: We are the parents of a problem child, only he is no "child" anymore. He is 22 and has given his girl an engagement ring. We know her parents (not well) and from what they tell us, our son has told their daughter some pretty tall tales. He told her he had $2,000 in the bank and he doesn't have a dime. He also said his car is paid for, and it isn't. He made some grand promises to this girl about a honeymoon trip and a lot of other things he can't afford. He borrowed the money for a down-payment on the ring. Should we tell the girl the truth about these things, or do you think it would be interfering? This little girl is a darling and deserves better than him, even if he is our own son.

AN HONEST MOTHER

DEAR HONEST: A "man" who would lie to his girl about his finances is too immature for marriage. Tell him he must tell his girlfriend the whole truth immediately—or you'll do it for him.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, please enclose a stamped self-addressed envelope.

"Tween-Age" Party In Suburbia

Certain members of the younger generation appear to have had a high time on Thursday evening at the "Tween-Age" dancing party for which Scott Hecker, son of Capt. and Mrs. George Hecker, was host.

The affair was held at the Hecker home in Country Club Terrace.

On hand for the party were 20 of the host's former sixth grade classmates from Merle Beattie School, and

We Hear That

Arriving on Wednesday were Mrs. James Rodenberg of Miami, Fla., and her small son, Richard Allen, who will visit several weeks in Lincoln as the guests of Mrs. Rodenberg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Dubinsky. Mrs. Rodenberg will be remembered as the former Joyce Dubinsky.

Party Compliments Ann Stebbins

When Mrs. Frank Shugrue and Mrs. Dewey Gruenhagen entertained at luncheon on Thursday at the Lincoln Country Club the party inclusive was bride-elect Miss Ann Stebbins whose marriage to Frank C. Sidles will be solemnized on Saturday, Aug. 16.

Included in the guest list were Miss Stebbins' aunt, Mrs. W. Dale Andersen — and her cousin, Miss Susan Andersen, of Storm Lake, Ia.

Following the luncheon Miss Stebbins was presented with a shower of gifts.

Hold Picnic

Mrs. Morris Roberts was honored on Thursday at a 6:30 o'clock picnic supper given by Mrs. S. D. Owens, Mrs. Jerry Ludwig, Mrs. Warren Kahler and Mrs. Lowell Sailor. The affair was held at the home of Mrs. Owens, and during the evening a baby shower was presented to the honoree.

Interstate Access Route Proposal 'Ready Soon' — Martin

Closed-Door Session Held

By Virgil Falloon
Mayor Bennett Martin said Thursday that a "workable plan" for Lincoln's access connection to the Interstate Highway would be presented to State Engineer L. N. Ress, probably "sometime next week."

The Council street committee, composed of Councilmen C. W. D. Kinsey, Al DuTeau and Martin, met in closed-door session during the morning with Public Works Director Dave Erickson and City Engineer Carl Fisher.

Martin said that all reports from Harland Bartholomew & Associates, city planning consultants, and George Barton, Chicago traffic engineer, are now complete.

"The reports are being combined into a workable plan for presentation to the state engineer," Martin explained. "It is hoped the results will be ready next week."

No Details Given
The mayor declined any details on the "workable plan" until a presentation could be made to Ress and other state highway department officials.

Though not officially disclosed, the proposed Bartholomew plan would bring the Interstate access connection along 7th street with feed-in structures at P and Q, pass under the Harris Overpass (O Street viaduct) and have surface connections with N, M, L and K.

Ress has taken a dim view of the 7th street route, but it is believed that several modifications have been incorporated for presentation of a "workable plan."

The Bartholomew survey was authorized by the Council when city officials reported that the state-proposed 9th and 10th access connection to the Interstate would create street and traffic problems for the central business district and the University of Nebraska campus.

House OKs $4,250,000 For LAFB Facilities

Washington (AP)—The House Thursday overwhelmingly passed and sent to the Senate a bill to authorize $1,718,768, 000 for future Army, Navy and Air Force construction.

Passage was on a roll call vote of 376-2.

The bill includes $4,250,000 for operational, training, maintenance and supply facilities and utilities at Lincoln Air Force Base, and $3,265,000 for operational, training and supply facilities and real estate at Offutt Air Force Base, Omaha.

Alaska Statehood Vote To Be Set Soon

San Francisco (AP)—Gov. Mike Stepovich said that some time before Aug. 1 he will set a date for a plebiscite for his fellow Alaskans to vote on statehood.

He said he had received official notice from President Eisenhower that the bill to make the vast territory the 49th state has been enacted and signed.

You'll Agree Snow Crop Orange Juice Is "Home-Squeezed" Style

Once you try Snow Crop orange juice, you'll know why it's called the "home-squeezed" style juice. Snow Crop is distinctively different in appearance from other frozen juices—it's the one juice that looks like the kind you squeeze at home. That's because Snow Crop is specially processed to retain the real fruit particles that other frozen juices strain out. Snow Crop tastes like the juice you squeeze at home, too—always deliciously full-bodied, never thin or watery. It's the pure juice of choice, tree-ripened oranges—loaded with Vitamin C and other important food benefits...ideal for babies as well as grown-ups! Drink Snow Crop "home-squeezed" style orange juice every day. It's good for you—good for your whole family!

LARC Still Lacks Money To Move U Of N Building

The Lancaster Assn. for Retarded Children still has a financial problem, despite a plea to the Community Chest for funds.

A total of $1,800 is being sought by LARC to move the old University of Nebraska Student Health Center building to 84th and Adams where the LARC school is located. The cost of moving the structure was set by H. L. Kapke & Son, house movers.

Yankees Beaten, Kicked

... By Russ Peasants

Wiesbaden, Germany (AP)—Five U.S. airmen told Thursday how they were kicked, beaten and threatened with hanging by Soviet peasants after their unarmed plane was shot down by MIG jets.

Maj. Bennie A. Shupe of Miami, Fla., had a nose pulled around his neck before he convinced the peasants he was an American.

The 5, part of a crew of 9 that landed in Soviet Armenia, June 27, had parachuted from their C118 transport plane when Soviet fighters set it aflame.

The 4 others landed with the plane and were picked up by Soviet soldiers at the end of a landing strip. They were not abused or mistreated. All were held for 10 days before being released Monday.

Why the parachutists had met with abuse from the local population was a mystery. Asked if they knew of any reason for the mistreatment, they all shook their heads and shrugged.

It was suggested that the men might have been mistaken for Turks or Iranians, but an Air Force spokesman replied: "We simply don't know. What those people were saying didn't make any sense to our men."

However, Soviet citizens are constantly fed stories that foreign powers are sending in spies and saboteurs.

Lincolmites Rev., Mrs. Schroeder To Leave On World Church Study Tour

Grand Island, Neb. (AP)—The Rev. and Mrs. Martin Schroeder of Lincoln will leave from Grand Island by plane next Sunday afternoon on a world study tour sponsored by the church periodical, the Christian Century.

They will join a group of church leaders in an on-the-spot study of world missions, and their political, social and religious problems. Members of the tour will interview statesmen, church leaders, editors and educators in all parts of the world.

The tour will include Hawaii, Japan, China, India, Iraq, the Holy Land, Egypt, Greece and Italy, ending at Rome. The Schroeders plan also to visit Berlin and Brussels and then go on to England to visit Mrs. Schroeder's family. They will return to Lincoln the middle of October.

The Rev. Mr. Schroeder is 70, his wife 68. He is a retired Lutheran minister who has served Nebraska parishes throughout his career. At present he is chaplain at the Tabitha Home in Lincoln.

The Schroeders' son, the Rev. Martin G. Schroeder of Grand Island, has asked his father to preach at his church, Messiah Lutheran, next Sunday morning.

The men, who staff the country's first atomic submarine, all have families near Groton, the home of the U.S. Atlantic submarine fleet.

Their 72-hour pass expires Sunday. The men will take a Navy plane back.

72-Hour Pass

Groton, Conn. (AP)—Thirty-three submarine sailors arrived here on a 72-hour pass from Hawaii.

The 29 enlisted men and 4 officers flew by Navy airplane from Pearl Harbor, where their U.S.S. Nautilus is participating in Pacific maneuvers.

Ike Is Erratic, But Ottawa Golf Fans Cheer Him

Ottawa (AP)—President Eisenhower hooked his first drive into a bunker at the Ottawa Hunt and Golf Club Thursday, but won cheers anyway from about 300 watching club members.

Then he tried again and his 2nd drive was 200 yards straight down the middle.

Nearing the end of his 3-day visit to Ottawa, he made a foursome with Transport Minister George Hees, Senate Speaker Mark Drouin and club President John B. Cross.

The 2 Canadian parliamentarians turned out in Bermuda shorts with knee length socks. The President wore a plain white T-shirt, and brown slacks.

Falls City Will Halt Vets Farm Classes

Falls City, Neb. (AP)—Veterans' farm training classes under the GI Bill of Rights, which have been held here since 1948, will be discontinued Aug. 31, the board of education has announced.

Hal McFadden, the instructor, said that most of the veterans have used up their eligibility. At the time there were 3 classes of 25 men each in operation at the high school.

Poking along the street this sunny morning and window-shopping the store windows. I see that the straw sailor hat has returned.

This goes well with everything else that is being dragged out of the attic of memory these memorable days: What else is this sloppy chemise style? That's flapper age stuff, Dad.

The world goes round and round. And so does time and tide and fashion.

Well, there is no one better able to give you the word on these things than your attic correspondent. And when I was a youth—with a belt in the back—I perched one of these straws on my own noggin.

They were stiff straw and deckle-edged—if you got hit across the chops with the edge, it cut.

Such hats flew off in the wind. And, believe me, there was nothing finer than to see a man after one of these straw sailors on a windy day in a crowded street.

To avoid such things, we attacked a string to the hat and looped the end in our buttonhole.

All things are returning. The teenagers are learning the Charleston and the ukulele.

Ladies are dressing for the Twenties. Skirts are going up and so are the waistlines. How about smart chatter?

"You're the bee's knees!" That is a good one we can use again.

Or, "That's the cat's pajamas!"

While we gents are parking straw hats on our heads and ladies are trying to look more like a sack, I think we should bring back the flapping galoshes.

The unsnapped galoshes is what gave the flappers the name.

The galoshes were supposed to keep ladies warm and dry. But bless your hearts, children. They had nothing between them and the skirt. And the skirt was about an inch above the knee.

And rolled stockings. Ah, memories, memories.

We all wore straw sailor hats. We wore them and the iceman's horse wore one too. With holes cut through for his ears to stick out.

When you put one of those stiff brims on, your ears stick out too. Only sideways. At least mine did.

We wore gay bands on our hats. Striped red and blue.

I look confidently toward seeing the striped blazer make a comeback. That was a gaudy article.

If ladies insist on keeping these styles, I also intend to take up plus-fours again. That was a baggy pair of pants that fastened below the knee. With them you wore knee length, diamond-checked stockings. Turned down at the top.

It will take some going to get ahead of me this year!

I also recall a pretty smart saying to go with this outfit: "You tell 'em, cabbage. You got the head!"

Put a straw hat on that, man. And go, man, go!

100 To Enter Ataturk University In Fall, Dr. Baker Reports

The University of Nebraska's sister institution in Turkey, Ataturk University, is expected to open its doors "in a modest way" to about 100 students next fall.

Dr. Marvel Baker, assistant dean of the University's College of Agriculture, made this report after returning from a 3-week progress check in Turkey. Dr. Baker previously served 2 years as head of the Nebraska mission in Turkey.

Although 4 buildings are now under construction in Erzurum, the 1st class, composed of freshmen majoring in agriculture, will use temporary facilities, including a remodeled high school building, Dr. Baker said.

Nebraska Turk Staff
A faculty of agriculture and one of Letters and Science, composed of both Nebraskans and Turks, will teach the initial courses, he said. Those courses in agriculture will include animal husbandry, crops and soils, agricultural engineering, and agricultural economics, he pointed out. Basic sciences, foreign languages, and other courses in Letters will also be taught.

The buildings now under construction in eastern Turkey include a laboratory, a social sciences building, and student and faculty dormitories. They should be completed by fall of 1959, Dr. Baker said.

At present, the University of Nebraska is training some 25 Turkish educators on the Lincoln campuses as new personnel for both Ataturk University and Ankara University. Forty Turks have already taken work in Lincoln, Dr. Baker reported.

2 New Departments
He said the Nebraskans' efforts have laid the foundation at Ankara for 2 new departments — home economics, and extension and information — which will be among the 1st of their kind in the Middle East.

Other areas in which the Nebraskans have worked have been forage plants, cereals,

1,041-Pound Man Dies At Age Of 32

... Believed World's Fattest

Bremen, Ind. (UPI)—A 1,041-pound man, believed to be the fattest in the world, died Thursday in a trailer outside the hospital he was too huge to enter.

Robert Hughes, 32, a monstrously overgrown farm boy from Fishhook, Ill., had lain for 7 days outside the little Bremen hospital.

He had come down with the 3-day measles while touring Indiana with the Gooding Brothers Amusement Co. carnival. Although Hughes was rushed to the hospital, he was too fat to squeeze through the doors or lie on a normal hospital bed.

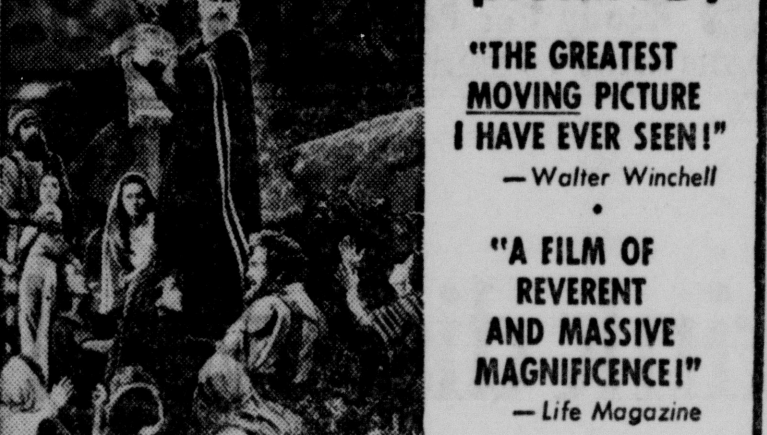

A Losing Battle
So he stayed in his mobile home, a heavily-reinforced semi-trailer truck, in the hospital parking lot while doctors fought a losing battle to keep

3 Workers Die In West Virginia Mine Explosion

Sophia, W.Va. (AP)—Three vacationing miners who went back to work for one day were killed, victims of a gas explosion deep in a coal mine in southern West Virginia.

Three hearses were waiting at the mouth of the mine when the bodies were brought out. The victims, declared dead inside the mine by Dr. W. F. Pomputius, all were found within a 50-foot radius of the mine-jeep they were using for transportation.

The 3 agreed to go back to start some pumps in No. 1 mine of the Slab Fork Coal Co., idle during the miners' annual 10-day vacation period. When they had not returned home by 11, their families notified company officials, and rescue parties started in after them.

About 2 1/2 miles into the slope mine, the leading rescue party was blocked by debris from an explosion. Their indicators showed definite traces of explosive methane gas and deadly carbon monoxide.

Dead were Sam Sawyers, 54-year-old father of 12 children, and Walter Moore, 38, married but childless, both of Slab Fork, and Herbert Cline, 42, night foreman and father of six, of nearby Maxwell Hill.

Levant Calls On Cops To Call Off Spouse

Beverly Hills, Calif. (AP)—Oscar Levant has called the cops for protection from his wife.

The bad boy pianist of local television called police here and quarters Wednesday night and said his wife, June, had hit him with a shoe and threatened to stab him with scissors. The pianist said she accused him of running around with other women.

Police Chief Clinton Anderson was in one of the 2 squad cars that sped to Levant's home.

"Levant was yelling and screaming inside the house," Anderson said. "You could hear him from a block away."

Locked in Bathroom
Mrs. Levant was locked in the bathroom. Anderson finally coaxed her out.

Cowboy Handed 3-Year Sentence On Jilting Charge

Miami (UPI) A dude ranch cowboy received a 3 year sentence in federal prison Thursday after he pleaded guilty to "jilting" a minister's wife and going on a spree with her $203,000.

Raymond Lewis Headspeth of Reno, Nev., agreed to return $186,000 to Mrs. Barbara Fox Doubleday, attractive 33-year-old mother of 2 who had gone to Reno to seek a divorce. She and her husband, the Rev. James A. Doubleday, rector of Grace Episcopal Church at Kirkwood, Mo., have had a reconciliation since the incident.

The $186,000 was what was left of $203,000 Mrs. Doubleday turned over to the cowboy when they left Reno for Mexico where she said she would get a quick divorce from the minister and marry Headspeth.

Mrs. Doubleday told a court Monday her lover left her stranded penniless in an Arizona motel while he went on a spree with her inheritance. He was arrested in Miami 6 days later.

Outstate Road Plans Listed

Curtis, Neb. (P)—L. N. Ress, state engineer, Thursday listed Nebraska highway projects contracts which could be let within the next 8 to 10 months.

In an address delivered before a meeting of the South Platte Chambers of Commerce, Ress said his department might ask for bids on the following projects involving more than $1 million worth of construction:

A 6-mile project extending east from Geneva in Fillmore County, involving grading, structures, and bituminous surfacing and costing an estimated $350,000.

In Dawson County, south of the Platte River near Gothenburgh on Nebraska Highway 47, improvements involving grading and bituminous surfacing at an estimated cost of $239,000.

Improvements on Nebraska 23-N in and near Farnam, involving some bituminous surfacing on the gravel highway, costing in the neighborhood of $199,000.

Bituminous surfacing on 15½ miles of road south of Hayes Center, to cost around $450,000.

Other work which may be let to contract in the southwest during the next ten months include:

On U.S. 34, between Funk and Axtell, and on Nebraska 3-S, from Chester west.

The engineer also said the department plans to improve U.S. 34 and 281 south of Grand Island to Doniphan.

This construction, which may not be let until late in 1959, will include major relocation of the highway, and erection of 2 new bridges to replace the old ones on the original route.

The roads department would like to hard surface all of Highway 4, Neb. 92 and U.S. 183 this year, in addition to completing the gap between Mullen and Tryon.

But Ress warned these projects will have to "take their turn."

Hastings School Will File Suit To Collect Fines

Hastings, Neb. (P)—The Hastings board of education has taken preliminary steps toward a "friendly suit" against the city to collect $57,979.29 in parking meter fines.

The state law provides that parking meter fines are to be turned over to the school districts.

The board is seeking payment of fines for a period from October, 1947, to November, 1953, which the city already has spent and for a period from December, 1953, to March 1957, for fines which the city holds in trust.

The city turned over to the school district fines amounting to $10,549.95 collected from May 12, 1957, to May 12, 1958.

Italy Sends Gift

San Martin, Argentina (P)—The mayor of Rome has sent a piece of the old Forum to be erected in the Plaza Italia here. It's a bit of a column topped by a Corinthian capital.

Combines, Laborers Needed As More Grain Fields Ripen

The State Labor Department said Thursday 360 combines are needed for the Nebraska wheat harvest.

The Hastings area urgently needs 56 machines; Holdrege, 30; McCook, 175, and North Platte 100 machines.

Harvest labor is needed in the grain area where there is a strong demand for truck drivers, combine operators and grain handlers.

Reports from local department offices, include:

Alliance — No change in starting date for harvest, July 17-20. Wheat is ripening rapidly. No combines standing by. Shortage expected for early wheat.

Hastings — Short 56 combines as follows: Harvard, 5; Nelson, 12; Edgar, 15; Sutton, 2; Red Cloud, 4; Clay Center, 6; Hastings, 5; Franklin, 5; and Holdrege, 2.

No machines have recently moved into the area. Grain is ripe and standing up well. Estimated harvest is 20% complete. Acreages range from 100 acres and up. One farmer has 1,000 acres.

Kearney — Short 30 combines. Acreages range from 115 acres to 200 acres. Combining is in full swing, weather permitting. Twenty-seven machines went through Alma port of entry recently. All had previous commitments. Harvest labor adequate.

McCook — Short 175 machines as follows: Imperial, 100; McCook, 55; and Benkelman, 20. Urgent need for machines at Imperial. Wheat is ripe. Rain probably will delay cutting in the area from Beaver City to McCook. No great shortage expected in Beaver City area.

U.S. Scientists To Aid

Wellington, N.Z. (P)—Commerce and Industries Minister Philip Holloway reports New Zealand will continue for at least 2 more years its scientific work in the Antarctic Ross dependency. He said 4 put up at Scott Base while studying earthquakes, glaciers and the aurora with equipment to be transferred when the Little American base is evacuated.

Kasper Accepts Call To Geneva

Geneva, Neb. — The Rev. Robert J. Kasper of Dunning has accepted a call to become pastor of the First Congregational Church at Geneva. He will succeed the Rev. L. E. Werner, who accepted a call to the Congregational Church at Lacon, Ill.

The Rev. Mr. Kasper has served as pastor of the Blaine County Larger Parish with Congregational Churches in Brewster, Dunning and Purdum since 1952.

WISHING WELL

Table with 10 columns and 10 rows of numbers for a wishing well game.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 8 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 8, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures spell out.

ROBINSON TO TESTIFY

New York (P)—Jackie Robinson accepted an invitation Thursday to appear before a Senate subcommittee Friday, July 18, to testify regarding a House-passed bill to give baseball and other professional sports exemptions from antitrust laws.

The former Brooklyn Dodger star, now an executive with a restaurant chain, said he had received the invitation Thursday and immediately wired back that he "would be happy to appear."

The Senate subcommittee currently is hearing testimony. Casey Stengel, manager of the New York Yankees, and such stars as Mickey Mantle, Ted Williams, Stan Musial, Robin Roberts and Eddie Yost testified before the committee Wednesday.

Jack Frost Falls

Dublin (P) — Dike Davies, Britain's No. 1 tennis player, defeated Jack Frost of Monterey, Calif., 1-6, 6-3, 1-6, 6-1, 6-2, to reach the finals of the Irish Championships Thursday. Frost led 2-1 in sets but faded in the later stages when the Briton found his touch.

Coliseum Screen 3rd Best Homer Target

Los Angeles (P) — Dr. One Bloop Swing has just emerged from his Chinese home-run laboratory and confided triumphantly:
"So! Wall of China standing new test with honor. Great ridicule heaped on Coliseum left-field screen, but remember Confucius say:
"Never knock screen that keeps flies out."
"This one keeping flies out of left-field seats."
What the good doctor was driving at, in his politely indirect oriental fashion, is that after half a season the Coliseum ranks only 3rd among National League parks in home run yield.

This falls somewhat short of bearing out the forecasts of pre-season prophets, who said balls would be flying out of the place so fast it would look as if somebody left the door open on a popcorn machine.

In the interest of justice, however, it should be stated that Dr. Swing's pride in the efficacy of the left-field screen is based on some pretty wobbly reasoning.
The screen, standing 251 feet from home plate at the foul line, actually has done a rotten job of intercepting homers. It's true that fewer have been hit here than at Wrigley Field in Chicago and Seals Stadium at San Francisco. But about 90% of the Coliseum homers have flown over that artificial barrier that extends 140 feet along the left-field wall.

And it would seem safe to conclude that only the spacious dimensions of center and right field have saved the Coliseum from becoming a Utopian hunting ground for seeking of souvenir baseballs.
Through the 37 games played here before the All-Star break, the Dodgers hit 36 home runs and the opposition 51. The total of 87 was slightly lower than that of Wrigley Field (94) and Seals Stadium (92), but considerably greater than that of most of the parks in the league.

-6,000-Mi. Flight- Nose Cone, Mouse Not Yet Found

Missile Survives
Redhot Plunge Back

Cape Canaveral, Fla. (P)—A U. S. ballistic missile has been fired at intercontinental range for the first time, but the Air Force announced Thursday efforts to recover the nose cone and its mouse have been abandoned temporarily.

Air Force officials confirmed that a mighty Thor-Able rocket launched Wednesday night impacted in the south Atlantic ocean near Ascension Island, 6,000 statute miles from Cape Canaveral. That meant U. S. missile men had passed another milestone in their bid to conquer space.

First Time
As far as it is known, it was the first time a ballistic weapon traveled more than 6,000 miles through outer space and survived the redhot plunge back into the earth's atmosphere.

Officials said the search for the top secret nose cone was called off because of darkness in the area. They planned to resume the hunt Friday.

Two aircraft and 2 ships cruising in the impact area spotted the nose cone as it dropped back from space. Sporadic radio signals have been picked up from the cone, but in insufficient strength to pinpoint the location.

Failure of the radio transmitter or the power supply might result in an unsuccessful recovery operation, officials said.

Three aircraft will conduct a last resort, low-level visual scanning of the impact area Friday, the Air Force said.

Only 30 Minutes
After a blazing takeoff, it took the Thor-Able only about 30 minutes to span the intercontinental distance. Once in space, the nose cone reached speeds as high as 12,000 miles an hour.

The Atlas, this nation's only test-operational ICBM, has been fired 8 times, but reportedly never beyond a range of about 600 miles.

Tito And Nasser Urge East-West Summit Talks

Pula, Yugoslavia (P)—Presidents Tito and Nasser appealed to the Eastern and Western blocs to settle their differences.

Winding up 8 days of discussion, Tito and the visiting President of the United Arab Republic urged a summit conference of East-West nations and an end to nuclear weapons production and tests.

They issued a communique denouncing "foreign domination, the interference by some countries in the internal affairs of other countries, and the use of pressure or force or threat of force by any country against another one."

QUAKE KILLS 3

...In South Alaska
Juneau, Alaska (P)—A mighty earthquake, felt throughout all of southeast Alaska, left 3 known dead and 2 missing Thursday.

The dead were 3 picnickers sucked into the sea when the quake sheared off the tip of an island in Yakutat Bay, about 200 miles northwest of here.

Missing were a man and his wife whose 44-foot fishing boat was swept by giant waves toward the rocky sides of Lituya Bay, on the coast 125 miles west of this Alaska capital.

The dead included Mrs. Jeanice Welsh Walton, 54, head of a Bellingham, Wash., family which owns the Icy Straits Canning Co. cannery at Yakutat and has been identified prominently with the Alaska fishing industry for years.

The 2 other victims were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Tibbles, employees of the Civil Aeronautics Administration station at Yakutat.

The quake caused the worst cable break in the Alaska communications system history, snapping it in 4 places in the Skagway-Haines area. Communications between southeast Alaska and Seattle were seriously disrupted.

Tokyo Rose Won't Face Deportation

San Francisco (P)—The U. S. Immigration Service Thursday announced it has found it necessary to cancel the warrant of arrest for deportation of Mrs. Iva D' Aquino, 41, the Japanese propaganda radio's "Tokyo Rose" of World War II.

Mrs. D'Aquino was released from Federal Women's Penitentiary at Alderson, W. Va., in January, 1956, after serving 6 years and 2 months of a 10-year sentence for treason.

The woman, born in Los Angeles, returned to the United States by military authorities in 1948, came home as an American citizen and, under a recent U. S. Supreme Court decision, she cannot be deported, said Bruce Barber, director of immigration.

Her husband, Felipe, a Portuguese citizen of Japanese descent, lives in Japan now.

Mrs. D'Aquino, a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, was in Japan in 1941 visiting relatives. During the war she broadcast from Radio Tokyo a propaganda program known as the "Zero Hour." It was designed especially to undermine the morale of allied servicemen in the Pacific.

Yugoslav Leaders Warned

They Face Same Fate
As Nagy, Ulbricht Say

Berlin (P)—Walter Ulbricht, Stalinist boss of East Germany, Thursday warned Yugoslavia that independent Communism could lead to the same kind of disaster that overtook the regime of Hungary's executed Imre Nagy. Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev listened sternly as the spade-bearded Ulbricht opened the East German Communist Congress by denouncing Yugoslav Communism as an open attack on the Soviet bloc camp.

Foreign delegates in the East Berlin Congress Hall appraised Ulbricht's grim declaration as a clear warning of what might be in store for Yugoslav leaders if they persist in their defiance of Moscow's domination.

Ulbricht spoke for more than 4 hours. All East German radio stations carried his speech.

Orating under a huge red banner blazoned "Socialism Conquers," Ulbricht declared that independent Communism's revisionist ideas led to what he called the bankruptcy and criminal decisions of the Nagy government in Hungary.

'Yield Right Of Way' Signs Explained; State Use Hiked

The State Department of Roads plans to install new "Yield Right Of Way" signs at intersections on the state highway system.

This was announced by State Engineer L. N. Ress who said that "recent accidents at some intersections in the state have resulted from vehicle operators misunderstanding the 'yield' signs."

"It is now apparent that we must again explain the meaning of this order," he said.

The engineer said yield right of way signs were conceived a few years ago for use at certain intersections where stop signs are not warranted because of low traffic volumes or the nature of the turning movements.

A driver is required to obey the order to prevent traffic accidents.

Reduce Speed

Encountering a yield right of way sign, motorists are required to reduce speed and yield the right of way to approaching vehicles which are close enough on intersecting roads to constitute immediate hazards, Hess said.

"If a driver is involved in a collision at an intersection or interferes with the movement of other vehicles, after driving past a yield sign, such collision or interference is deemed prima facie evidence of a driver's failure to yield the right of way, and he is, therefore, guilty of a violation," said Traffic Engineer Bob Meyer.

"The yield sign is very distinctive in appearance," Ress said.

"It is triangular in shape with the point of the triangle at the bottom. The Nebraska Safety Patrol will regard the violator of a yield right of way sign in the same way as a violator of a stop sign," the engineer concluded.

LeMay Suspects Error By Pilot In Jet Tanker Crash

Washington (P)—Gen. Curtis E. LeMay, Air Force vice chief of staff, said he suspects that pilot error may have caused the June 27 crash of a Europe-bound jet strato-tanker on takeoff from Westover Air Force Base, Mass.

Six newsmen were among the 15 persons killed in the accident.

Asked about the accident after he addressed a National Press Club luncheon, LeMay said the official investigation is not complete but has uncovered nothing to indicate mechanical malfunction.

Buys Carrier

London (P)—Argentina has bought the 14,000-ton British aircraft carrier Warrior, Argentine Rear Adm. Benjamin Moritan Colman said. He announced the vessel cost between one and 2 million pounds (2.8 and 5.6 million dollars).

Teitelbaum Said Marked For Death In '54 Underworld Plot

Washington (AP) — A police lieutenant testified that Abraham Teitelbaum was marked for death in 1954 in an underworld plot to seize control of Chicago's rich restaurant industry.

The plan, Lt. Joseph Morris of Chicago told the Senate Rackets Investigation Committee, was to push Teitelbaum from the balcony of his office high up in the Chicago Fine Arts Building and make it look like suicide. Teitelbaum's office is on the 10th floor.

Teitelbaum, a lawyer, then was the $125,000-a-year labor consultant for the Chicago Restaurant Assn. There has been testimony that he exercised some sort of magic when it came to settling labor disputes.

Called before the Senate probers, Teitelbaum invoked the protection of 4 different constitutional amendments and refused to say whether he knew anything about the murder plot.

"Can't you be helpful to the committee?" chairman John

L. McClellan (D-Ark) asked the big, sweating, florid-faced witness.

U.S. Security McClellan said he and his fellow senators were seeking information about gangster infiltrations which have reached a point where "it endangers actually the security of our country and the liberties we enjoy."

But Teitelbaum was adamant. He refused to answer more than 80 questions on the grounds that answers might tend to degrade or incriminate him.

The lawyer was threatened with contempt of Congress proceedings, and McClellan, himself a lawyer, said he intended to invite the attention of bar associations to some of Teitelbaum's associates.

Lt. Morris testified he received information that Louis (Needle Nose) Labriola and James Weinberg, 2 gangsters who were subsequently murdered, were plotting to get rid of Teitelbaum.

Morris described an underworld split over an effort to set up an organization to be known as the Metropolitan Restaurant Assn. and to take over from Teitelbaum's powerful group.

The police officer said Tony Accardo, swarthy king of Chicago's underworld, appeared to be behind the move, with Sam (Golf Bag) Hunt slated to be boss of the new association. He described Hunt as "the senior member of the syndicate."

Graham Ruled Sioux County Head Of GOP

A disagreement in Sioux County over who was to head its Republican organization was settled Thursday when State GOP Chairman Richard Spelts Jr. ruled that Dale E. Graham of Harrison would be recognized as Sioux County GOP chairman.

The dispute had arisen among Republicans in the Panhandle county when former chairman George A. Clarke of Harrison, defeated in the primary as a delegate to the county convention, claimed he had been re-elected chairman at the May 29 county convention held in his office.

Clarke, as out-going chairman, had called the May 29 meeting at 8:30 a.m. in his office at the Harrison Sun of which he is editor.

This early hour was protested by the elected delegates, some of whom had to travel 30 to 40 miles from their ranches to attend the meeting.

Notices Sent

The county clerk was among those protesting the early hour and subsequently sent notices to the delegates that the convention would be held at the usual hour of 2 p.m. that day.

Graham was elected chairman at the 2 p.m. meeting attended by the elected delegates, and Spelts ruled that this would be the convention recognized, and the officers named there would be the ones authorized.

Lucille Engebretsen of Harrison was recognized as vice chairman, Louise Serres, also of Harrison, was named secretary, and Margaret Hoffman of Agate, was recognized as treasurer.

Spelts said the situation in Sioux County has "presented a problem which goes beyond the immediate" because "our party prides itself on harmony and I hope that any wounds which have been opened can be quickly closed and our common cause be confronted with a united front."

Chadron Airport Improvements To Be Considered

The State Aeronautics Commission will hold its next meeting July 21 in Scottsbluff to discuss Chadron airport improvements. Rolland Harr, state aeronautics director, reported.

Harr said improvements at Chadron will be a necessity if a favorable decision is rendered for Nebraska in the so-called Seven States Area case which is currently under consideration by the Civil Aeronautics Board.

The State Aeronautics Department has requested the CAB for authority to put into use an Omaha-Douglas, Wyo., flight by exemption.

The move was taken following removal by the Chicago and Northwestern Railroad of trains 13 and 14 between Omaha and Chadron.

Frontier air lines has offered to supply the service.

Panhandle Harvest Peak Expected By July 20

Sidney, Neb. (AP) — Wheat harvesting in the Nebraska Panhandle should reach its peak between July 15 and 20, farmers and elevator men agree.

Much depends on the weather, however. Humidity in the southern panhandle on Wednesday was running 60%, threats of continued thunder showers throughout the region continued Thursday.

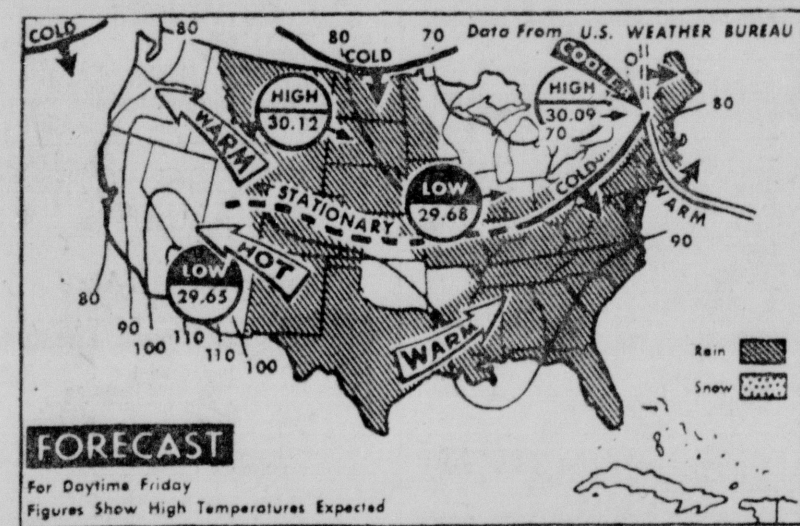

Fir's load of new wheat was received in Sidney Tuesday afternoon at the Farmer Elevator, but it came from across the Colorado line northwest of Crook.

Harold and Frank Borg of Dalton were the producers. The elevator said the wheat tested No. 1, slightly yellow 60 lbs. and 13.25 moisture content. The Borgs said they thought it would run 35 to 40 bushels per acre.

However, Warren Mettlen of the Farmers Elevator said the wheat tested only 8.85% moisture. The Borgs elected to sell it for $1.39 per bushel rather than apply for a government loan.

Farmers Elevator at Chapell said it had tested a number of samples from that territory but all of them ran 15% moisture and could not be handled until the grain dries.

Farmers Elevator at Peet, Colo., had the same story, no farmer brought in a load yesterday, but took it back some when he found that it was too wet for the elevator to handle.

Another Day Of Rains Forecast

Showers and thunderstorms are forecast Friday for the eastern two-thirds of the nation except for the Great Lakes area. Sunny, hot weather will continue over the Southwest where temperatures may exceed 100 degrees. It will be cooler, in the 60s, over northern New England and warm and sunny in the rest of the nation. Scherer And Neudeck Get Prison Terms

J. F. McLain, state banking director, announced the convictions and sentences of Warren M. (Bud) Scherer and Ralph R. Neudeck.

Scherer, formerly of Pilger and Norfolk, currently resides at Tucson, Ariz., and Neudeck, who formerly lived in Iowa, now resides at Norfolk, McLain said.

The banking director said the 2 men were tried in District Court of Cuming County upon information charging Scherer with 9 counts of selling securities not authorized for sale by the Department of Banking, and charging Neudeck on 6 counts with the sale of securities not authorized for sale by the Department of Banking.

Furthermore, McLain said, the 2 were charged with selling securities without a broker's or salesman's license.

On May 16, 1958, the jury returned a verdict of guilty against each defendant upon each count, McLain said.

Montana Leases

The securities involved consisted of undivided fractional working interest in an oil and gas lease on real estate located in Montana and stocks of the French Creek Mining Co. of Montana.

The presiding judge of the 9th District sentenced Scherer to 5 years in the Penitentiary upon each of 9 counts, the sentences to run concurrently. He also was fined $1,000 and taxed with all cost.

Neudeck was sentenced to 5 years on each of 5 counts with the sentences to run concurrently. He also was fined $1,000 and charged with all cost. Notice of intention to appeal has been filed by both defendants.

700 Workers At Omaha WE Plant Strike

Omaha (AP) — A picket line set up by the Teamsters Union was respected by some 700 construction workers at the Western Electric Plant Thursday.

Western Electric employees working on the company's production operations, however, were allowed to cross the lines. All crafts except carpenters had been working on the big construction job during a carpenters' strike which has idled most major construction here.

The walkout was said to have stemmed from a labor dispute involving one truck driver.

Thursday's strike was against the Southern Fireproofing Co. of Cincinnati, which is doing the masonry and bricklaying work.

Murel Robertson, project superintendent, said the company has one truck and hires one driver. He said the truck was recently driven to another company job in Ohio by a supervisory employee.

Robertson said the Teamsters Union demanded that the firm pay the salary of a union driver, something under $100. Robertson said he asked that the matter be settled by an arbitration board, but the union refused.

Omahan's Death Blamed On Crash

Omaha (AP) — An autopsy Thursday attributed the death of Eli Nedinmovich, 74, Omaha, to injuries received crossing a downtown Omaha street July 2.

Police identified the driver of the car as Mrs. Vernell Wilder, 29, of Omaha.

With the new death Nebraska's traffic toll rose to 148—18 more than a year ago.

California Educator Reviews Trends In U.S. Education

Four current trends in American education were outlined Thursday at the All-Teachers College conference at the University of Nebraska by Dr. Harold Spears, superintendent of the San Francisco Public Schools.

Discussing "The Current National Interest in the Curriculum" and "Some Current Approaches to Instruction," Dr. Spears, who has been directing an extensive curriculum examination in San Francisco schools, listed the following important trends:

1. More attention is being given to science at all grade levels.
2. Modern foreign languages are being taught to be spoken whereas the old emphasis was upon grammatical study.
3. There will be more acceleration of bright high school students who are going on to college. Tie-ups with universities will enable some seniors to take courses carrying college credit.
4. Teachers must grow on the job through in-service courses. Adequate salaries will make this inviting.
5. "Backed Financially"

In discussing the present concern over American schools, Dr. Spears pointed out that it must be "backed up with financial support." But, he stressed, it's up to school administrators and teachers to make a "searching study of the curriculum and methods to get better results from present investment."

Such an examination must find a program that works every student up to the limit of his ability, he said.

"Our nation's economy is undergoing a technological revolution, and only education can implement this change," he observed.

Another conference speaker, Mrs. Mary Schwarz of Independence, Mo., 1957 Teacher of the Year, urged teachers to foster creativity in youth. To do this the teacher must tolerate the unconventional, keep an open mind, and "close no ideas out," she said.

Let Them Decide

She advised letting the children decide what they really want to know about and pick "real problems they want to solve."

Dr. Frank E. Henzlik, professor of school administration and dean emeritus of Teachers College, who also spoke, listed these points that make a superior teacher:

- She has a firm conviction of the importance of teaching as a life work.
- She does everything in her power to know the learner and his background in school, in the home and in the community.
- She develops the skill and art of motivating, stimulating, learning and experiences.
- She understands the community and uses the resources to vitalize her classroom work.
- She recognizes that she has a responsibility to society or to the changing world in which we live.
- She respects and safeguards herself as a person.

Col. Britt 307th Bomb Wing Deputy

Col. James O. Britt has been named deputy commander of the 307th Bomb Wing at Lincoln Air Force Base.

Col. Britt, whose promotion was announced Thursday by LAFB officials, is a native of Snyder, Okla. He recently graduated from the Air War College at Maxwell Air Force Base, Ala.

He has served overseas in the Middle East and Guam during his 17 years in the Air Force. From 1954-57, he was stationed at Strategic Air Command headquarters, Offutt Air Force Base, Omaha, as deputy chief of operations in the plans division.

A command pilot, Col. Britt holds the Distinguished Flying Cross, Air Medal with 2 Oak Leaf clusters and the Purple Heart.

Young Polish Mathematician To Speak Here

One of the nation's outstanding young Polish mathematicians, Dr. Wanda Smielew of the University of Warsaw, will lecture for a public mathematics colloquium next week at the University of Nebraska.

Dr. Smielew will discuss "The Problems of Completeness and Categoricity for Hyperbolic Geometry" at 2 p.m., Monday in Room 209, Burnett Hall.

Miss Smielew took her undergraduate work at the University of Warsaw and she received her Ph.D. in 1950 at the University of California.

In her doctoral thesis, Miss Smielew settled one of the most important problems of the foundations of mathematics, namely "The Decision Problem for Abelian Groups." The thesis won the 1950 Polish prize.

Miss Smielew's most recent work has been on the logical foundations of geometry, and she is co-author of a book in this field.

Pleads Innocent To Violation Of Probation

Winford C. Culver of Lincoln pleaded innocent Thursday in Lancaster District Court to a charge of violation of probation.

Culver, 35, had been placed on 5-year probation in December, 1955, after being found guilty by a jury of receiving stolen property. He had been charged with receiving more than $101 worth of merchandise which had been stolen from a local store the previous January.

Culver allegedly violated the terms of his probation by failing to report as ordered to the Adult Probation Office and by failing to comply with that office's probation instructions.

He is scheduled for trial on the probation violation charge July 21 before Judge Paul White. His appearance bond was set at $5,000.

Crete Man Sentenced For No-Account Check

Joseph J. Heberlee of Crete was sentenced Thursday in Lancaster District Court to a 3-month term in the County Jail on a no-account check charge.

Man Spending All But 10 Days Of Sentence At Hospital Paroled

A young Sidney man who has spent all but 10 days of a one to 6-year sentence for motor vehicle homicide, imposed Dec. 26, 1956, at the Veterans Hospital in Lincoln, was one of 10 Men's Reformatory inmates granted parole Thursday by the State Board of Pardons and Paroles.

Carl Simpson, 24, of Sidney, first was confined at the Veterans Hospital at Cheyenne following a car accident in September of 1956 in which 2 persons were killed and he was seriously injured. He was arraigned in District Court at Sidney in December, 1956, pleaded no contest to the charge of motor vehicle homicide, was transferred to the Men's Reformatory at Lincoln, where he remained for 10 days before being transferred to the VA Hospital in Lincoln.

21 Operations
The Board agreed with its chairman, Gov. Victor Anderson, that the 21 minor and major operations performed on the inmate brought him

"suffering worse than if he had been able to serve the time at the Reformatory." Simpson, who had no prior trouble of any kind with the law, was recommended for parole in order that he may take advantage of training under a rehabilitation program. It was stated that he still must have additional operations.

The Board granted paroles to all inmates pleading for clemency at the hearings:

Eugene A. Brennförder, 23, Blair, breaking and entering and violation of bench parole, Dodge County, one to 3 years, May 16, 1957.

Allan J. Collins, 27, Lincoln, bigamy, Douglas County, 2 to 3 years, March 11, 1957.

Ronald L. Queen, 20, Omaha, burglary and violation of bench parole, Douglas County, one to 3 years, May 9, 1957.

Raymond F. Cahalane, 29, Grand Island, no fund check and violation of bench parole, Hall County, one to 3 years, July 28, 1957.

Roy J. Kirby Jr., 19, Lincoln, escape from city jail, Kearney County, 2 years, Aug. 2, 1957.

Jack A. Malone, 22, Gothenburg, no account check, Lincoln County, one to 3 years, Sept. 28, 1957.

Glendon L. Thomlinson, 24, North Platte, robbery, Lincoln County, 3 to 5 years, Feb. 13, 1956.

Elmer Goehenour, 24, Bayard, 2 counts of breaking and entering, Morrill and Scotts Bluff Counties, 2 to 3 years, Dec. 7, 1956.

Ronald Goehenour, 20, Bayard, 2 counts of breaking and entering, Morrill and Scotts Bluff Counties, 2 to 3 years, Dec. 8, 1956.

Rail Commission Sets 2 Hearings

The State Railway Commission has announced it will hold out-state hearings at the following times and places:

July 18, district court room at Nebraska City; application of Ralph J. and Henry L. Straw for operating rights of Henry and Floyd Howell, doing business as Howell and son, Nebraska City.

July 24, district court room at Gering; application of Dale W. Benda and Duane A. Niekont, Gering, for operating rights of Wallace C. Walker, doing business as Modern Body Shop, Scottsbluff.

We Hope So, Too

Toronto (AP) — Police are looking for what they think they hope is a prankster. He's been going around putting printed signs on the windshields of visiting U.S. cars that say: "Get out of Canada, Yankee." (signed) "The Royal Empire Loyalists of Canada."

Victim Tortured By Raw, Itch-Crazy Athlete's Foot
"Raw, agonizing cracked-toe itch drove me crazy until I found a new wonder medication. Now I'm happy," writes R. Gray of L.A.
Here's blessed relief from the itching tortures and misery of Athlete's Foot with an amazing new scientific formula called Lanacane Skin Ointment. This stainless, stingless, medicated cream kills harmful bacteria germs while it prevents spread of infection. Destroys Athlete's Foot fungi on contact and so speeds healing of raw, cracked toes. Don't suffer another minute. Get LANACANE today at all druggists.

Foreign Aid Chief Shocked By Cuts

Washington (UPI)—Foreign aid chief James H. Smith urged Congress to battle Russia on the economic front with the same determination it showed in meeting the Soviet missile-satellite threat.

He told the Senate Appropriations Committee that House cuts in President Eisenhower's aid program would leave the door wide open for Soviet economic penetration throughout the world. He warned that Russia has embarked on a world-wide economic campaign.

Smith, a former Navy fighter pilot, said he was shocked at the "implications" of the House cut. He said that when the United States learned of Russian advances in missiles and submarines it redoubled its efforts in those fields.

'More Forces'

"When we are surprised by a Sputnik and then have our first effort — Vanguard—fail, we don't give up, we throw in more money, more forces, more skills," he said.

Smith carried forward the administration's fight to get the Senate to boost the House-passed $3,078,000,000 money bill to the full $3,675,000,000 authorized earlier by Congress. The President originally asked for $3,950,092,500.

Smith recalled that he participated in the World War II attacks on Tarawa, Makin, Kwajalein, Saipan, Iwo Jima, the Philippines and Tokyo. In each, he said, the United States spent more than the administration is asking in aid to keep Cambodia, Laos, Thailand, Viet Nam and Indonesia out of the Communist camp.

Still, he said, the administration is "scorned" when it seeks funds to "preserve the freedom of the individual, sponsor private enterprise, increase chances for peace, lead to greater understanding between peoples and create a true mutual security."

Milford Couple Hurt In Crash Said Satisfactory

A Milford, Neb., couple injured in a 3-vehicle accident Thursday morning in the 600 block on West O was reported in satisfactory condition at a local hospital.

Gerald Szarnick, 21, and his wife Connie, 19, suffered undetermined injuries when the car he was driving was in collision with a truck driven by Don Boden, 21, of 2609 So. 11th. Driver of the other car involved in the mishap was Kenneth W. Pester, 18, of Rt. 5, the Safety Patrol reported.

The Patrol said details of how the accident occurred were not clear, but said Pester and Boden were westbound on O and Szarnick was eastbound on O at the time.

State Pilots To Get New Maps

Nebraska's registered pilots soon will be receiving newly printed aeronautical maps of Nebraska from the State Aeronautics Department.

Rolland Harr, department director, said he thought the maps were the first of their type ever printed.

One side, a sectional scale of Nebraska, presents the entire state.

The other side, on a smaller scale, shows the state and the principle cities in bordering states.

The maps show all aeronautical information for the areas covered, Harr said, and replace the old type postal-geodetic maps which usually came in 5 separate sections to show the same area.

Auto Victim Treated For Possible Injuries

Mrs. Darlene Noble of 1407 Dakota was treated for a possible head injury at a local hospital and released after she was injured Thursday morning in a 2-car accident at 9th and South.

Police said the car she was driving was in collision with one driven by Earle L. Blacketer, 60, of Rt. 1. Mrs. Noble, 27, was southbound on 9th and Blacketer was driving west on South at the time, police said.
